STATE FAIR MIDWAY ATTRACTIONS . . . all in place for first patrons of 'bigger and better' show.

'68 Nebraska Fair Ready For Crowds

By JIM STEVENSON
Star Staff Writer

Festivities began Thursday evening, but the real kickoff of the 1968 Nebraska State Fair will be Friday.

Gates were officially opened at midnight for Kids' Day, the first day of the fair, but the real action is expected later Friday.

Fair Manager Henry Brandt predicted a "usual" opening day crowd of about 25,000.

Officials said they were expecting good weather conditions.

Attractions at the 99th annual Nebraska State Fair will run from a "bigger and better" midway show to grandstand shows by Al Hirt, Marty Robbins and the Young Americans.

Livestock exhibits continued to arrive Thursday and judging began among certified seed, home economics and fine arts entries.

Midway opening time Friday will be 10 a.m. An afternoon exhibition of pony trotting and chariot races is set in the grandstand at 12:30.

A Dick Wickman open air concert and a "battle of the combos" in front of the grandstand are also scheduled Friday.

Entries for the '68 fair were reported "way up."

Brandt said Thursday that one late cancellation had eased space problems in the livestock areas.

"But I've still got horses coming out of my ears," he joked.

Hopefully, the minature "Iron Horse" railway will be ready to go Friday, but problems with the asphalt track base made the opening time rather tentative.

But Brandt and assistant Ralph Fox, in a show of confidence, promised to be among the railroad's first passengers Friday morning.

The railway will take fairgoers on a huge circuit of the grounds and exhibits.

The fair continues through next Thursday.

Viet Combat Deaths Highest Of Summer

Saigon (AP) — Fresh fighting erupted in Vietnam Thursday and U.S. headquarters said the number of Americans, South Vietnamese and enemy killed in combat last week soared to the highest total so far this summer.

The Viet Cong high command appealed to its troops and sympathizers in the central part of the country to "hit, destroy, annihilate the enemy in the new general offensive now under way."

In beating back enemy offensives last week, headquarters said, 308 Americans were killed in action, the highest toll since June 15, and another 1,144 were wounded.

495 Viets Slain

South Vietnamese casualties were put at 495 government troops slain, their heaviest loss for any week since May 11.

U.S. headquarters reported 4,755 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed last week, the biggest weekly total since May 18.

The report raised the number of Americans killed in combat in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961, to 27,101. Total enemy losses for the 7½-year period is estimated at 385,055 dead.

The rising casualty tolls were linked directly to the resumption of a series of heavy enemy infantry attacks and shellings that began Aug. 18, snapping a two-month lull in the ground war.

Most Efforts Blunted

"The offensive efforts of the enemy were blunted just about every place he tried to do anything," a U.S. spokesman said of last week's action. He attributed a large number of enemy deaths to allied artillery and air attacks.

The biggest of the latest clashes raged 32 miles northwest of the capital where U.S. jets and artillery raked a North Vietnamese battalion cornered by troops of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division.

A running battle through marshes, flooded rice paddies and jungle cost the 300-plus enemy force 103 dead, 22 captured and one defection, according to U.S. count. Sixteen Americans were reported killed and 25 wounded.

Viet Cong raided two defenseless hamlets in northern South Vietnam and dragged off 65 civilians, the U.S. Command said Friday. Apparently it was the enemy's way of recruiting supply bearers for a new general offensive that the Viet Cong command says is under way.

Police Loose Tear Gas; 79 Protesters Arrested

Chicago (AP) — Illinois National Guardsmen, wearing gas masks and armed with M1 rifles, arrested antiwar demonstrators in mass fashion Thursday night and dispersed the rest of a generally well-dressed crowd with repeated volleys of tear gas.

Seventy-nine were arrested, including some Democratic National Convention delegates and alternates.

The confrontation started in an orderly manner as the protesters attempted to march on the convention, but demonstrators later threw missiles and surged into a line of law enforcement officers. Some national guardsmen used their rifles as clubs. Tear gas hung heavy over the crowd.

The line of 3,000 demonstrators was strung out for a mile south from the Conrad Hilton Hotel to the standoff spot at 18th Street and South Michigan Avenue before regrouping at Grant Park, across the street from the Hilton.

Led By Gregory

The demonstrators, most of them well dressed. were led by Dick Gregory, Negro night club performer, and a man in a wheel chair who said he was an Oklahoma convention delegate.

Gregory invited the 1,000 demonstrators to his South Side home, but law enforcement officers halted their progress one mile from Grant Park, where the march began. The confrontation was generally orderly and without violence.

Gregory and the Oklahoman, Tommy D. Frasier of Tulsa,. were arrested voluntarily along with other demonstrators who chanted "Freedom Now" as they climbed into police vans. A helicopter and Army observation plane flew overhead.

Eight persons who identified themselves as convention delegates were among the group arrested.

Many of the demonstrators earlier heard Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy address a large crowd in Grant Park across from the Hilton. McCarthy said he does not support either of the major party candidates running for president.

To Back His Kind

McCarthy said he would support the campaigns of congressmen who backed him "and with these kinds of people in Congress we can have the kind of foreign policy we want."

He spoke briefly and then returned to his headquarters across the street in the Hilton.

Another group of protesters, led by convention delegates, headed for the International Amphitheatre from a downtown hotel. They were stopped by police at 16th and State Streets, one mile from the Hilton, and about four miles from their destination.

NOMINEE CARVING INDEPENDENT PATH

. . . Muskie Nominated For Vice Presidency

Chicago (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey, his moment of political triumph marred by bitter street violence, took charge of a divided Democratic Party Thursday night, vowing as its nominee for the White House to strive for "a prompt end to this war" in Vietnam.

"The policies of tomorrow need not be limited by the policies of yesterday," Humphrey told cheering Democrats in what seemed a declaration of political independence from President Johnson, the man he has for four years served as vice president.

To All Problems

He said he would apply that rule to Vietnam and to all the other problems of America.

Humphrey's chosen political partner, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, was nominated for the vice presidency.

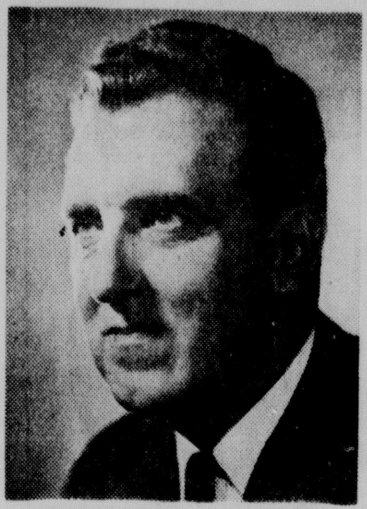
It was Vietnam policy, and Humphrey's alignment with the current U.S. stance, which stirred constant discord at the 35th Democratic National Convention.

Strength Foreseen

But Humphrey said the disagreement itself could strengthen the foundations of the party.

"Had we papered over differences with empty platitudes instead of frank debate, we would deserve the contempt of our fellow citizens and the condemnation of history," Humphrey said as he accepted the Democratic presidential nomination to oppose Republican Richard M. Nixon next Nov. 5.

And he appealed to the men who he defeated, Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy and George S. McGovern, for their help in the campaign.



EDMUND S. MUSKIE

In the climactic moments of a Democratic National Convention beseiged by demonstrators and marked by internal dissension, Humphrey took the speaker's stand before roaring delegates and a sea of campaign signs.

Violence Tragic

He began his acceptance speech by talking of the violence which flared in downtown Chicago, said it was distressing, tragic, and that the nation should resolve never again to see such troubles.

Humphrey declared, "Neither mob violence nor police brutality has any place in America."

"Let those who believe that our cause in Vietnam has been right — and those who believe it has been wrong — agree here and now: neither vindication nor repudiation will bring peace or be worthy of our country," Humphrey said.

"Majority rule has prevailed, but minority rights are preserved."

And he said those who understand democracy accept the decision today, while reserving their right to try to change it tomorrow.

"There is trouble in America," Humphrey said, "but it comes not from a lack of faith but from a kindling of hope."

He invoked the words of John F. Kennedy and drew cheers when he asked the convention to join him in seeking to learn what it can do for the freedom of man.

And he spoke of President Johnson, drawing cheers but boos as well.

"President Johnson has accomplished more of the unfinished business of America than any of his modern predecessors," Humphrey said.

It was Johnson's March 31 decision to neither seek nor accept nomination for a second full term in the White House which cleared the way for Humphrey's own campaign.

There was noisy evidence of discord in the convention hall as delegates followed the instructions of their presidential nominee and awarded second spot to Muskie, the lanky man from Maine.

Muskie, nominated by acclamation, spoke indirectly of the Chicago disorders in his acceptance speech. He said "the surging determination" of young people and the disadvantaged in America should hearten those who believe in freedom.

4 Nebraskans Offer Protest Votes Against HHH's Choice

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Chicago — Four Nebraska delegates Thursday night cast protest votes against Democratic presidential nominee Hubert Humphrey's choice of Sen. Edmund Muskie as his vice presidential running mate.

Two votes, those of Ernest Luther of Omaha and alternate George McGuire of Wisner, went to Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

The other two, cast by Thomas Dean of Scottsbluff and Virginia Pavelka of Valentine, were given to Rep. Don Edwards of California, the first congressman to support McCarthy.

"Yes, in effect, I'm afraid it was a protest," Dean said.

"My vote was cast out of conscience.

"I voted for Edwards primarily because he was one of the top McCarthy men and a rising young star. In the very near future, I am sure the nation will hear a great deal about this outstanding man."

Dean and Luther had cast their presidential votes for McCarthy, while Miss Pavelka supported Sen. George McGovern. McGuire did not vote in Wednesday night's presidential balloting.

Twenty-four of the delegation's votes were cast for Muskie.

Two delegates abstained.

Humphrey's choice of Muskie met with an almost total lack of enthusiasm within the delegation.

"In our area, at least, it's an Agnew thing all over again," former congressman Don McGinley of Ogallala said. McGinley would have preferred Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma.

"When I first heard Muskie's name, I thought it was some sort of a fish fry," one delegate said.

Disenchanted

"I'm totally disenchanted," Nancy Childs of Lincoln noted. "But when I was approached about the possibility of supporting Humphrey for president, I was almost guaranteed that Sargent Shriver would be his vice presidential choice."

Mrs. Childs voted for McGovern Wednesday night.

Muskie's nomination will be of "no assistance" to the ticket, Miss Pavelka said.

"I don't know a lot about him," Jerry Kromberg of Lincoln said. "He would not have been my first choice but I have no objections."

But delegation chairman Hans Jensen of Aurora said he has "high respect" for Muskie and considers his nomination to be a wise political decision from a geographical standpoint.

McCarthy's decision not to support Humphrey in his coming presidential contest with Richard Nixon drew criticism from Jensen.

"I thought he was a bigger man than that," Jensen said. "Frankly, I am disappointed in him."

McCarthy, Miss Pavelka suggested, is "a man of convictions."

McCARTHY SAYS . . .

People Found 'Not Wanting'

New York Times Service

World News

Chicago — "We were willing to open the box and see what America was, and when we opened it, we found that the people of this nation were not wanting," Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy said Thursday in a farewell address to his troops.

With this concluding sentence in a speech of thanks to about 800 supporters in the Conrad Hilton Hotel, McCarthy sought to keep his youthful following where he had brought them nine months ago at the beginning of his bid for the United States presidency.

Just over an hour later, while Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democratic presidential nominee, was announcing in the grand ballroom of the Hilton his choice of Sen. Edmund Muskie as running mate, McCarthy walked out of the hotel, passed the blue line of Chicago police, crossed Michigan Ave., and spoke to several thousand of the demonstrators who clashed Wednesday night with the police.

According to some of the senator's aides, he decided to speak to the demonstrators in the belief that, by so doing, he might head off further violence Thursday night. McCarthy was introduced by Dick Gregory, the Negro comedian, who said, "I've been trying to get this Secret Service protection for two months."

McCarthy immediately captured the attention of the crowd by saying, "It was easier to get into here than it was to get into the Democratic Convention." When the roar subsided, he began: "I'm happy to be here to address the government of the people in exile."

The Establishment

Although the crowd of peace demonstrators were attentive and applauded frequently, it was plain that many regarded him as a man simply against the Lyndon Johnson's establishment and not against The Establishment.

He got no rousing cheers when he said: "When I began, I promised that instead of riots and protests, we'd have dancing in the streets. I still hope we are on the way to opening up the spirit of hope and happiness."

The people, he said, had made a judgment about Vietnam that the politicians had been afraid even to face. It was true, he continued, that he and his supporters had "got stuck in putting it through the political process." But they were "not stopped, only stalled," and they would continue to work for peace in Vietnam within the political process.

Cry Of 'No'

A cry of "no!" went up from the demonstrators.

"Yes," replied McCarthy, and then raised a cheer by adding: "I will not endorse either one of them (Vice President Humphrey or Richard M. Nixon).

But, he said, "I am prepared to stay with these issues so long as I have a constituency — and I still have a constituency." He and his supporters, he said, would press forward to get a change of policy on the war and militarization of foreign policy, to combat poverty and racism.

McGovern Backs HHH, Denounces Police Beatings

Chicago (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern gave a lukewarm endorsement Thursday to the presidential candidacy of Hubert H. Humphrey, but said Humphrey must become "his own man" on the Vietnam war.

McGovern coupled his support for Humphrey with a scathing denunciation of Chicago police treatment of young protesters. He said the beating of protesters by police left him sick at heart.

"I saw American youth savagely beaten with police clubs while they lay prostrate on the pavement of Michigan avenue for the crime of protesting policies over which they've had very little say," said McGovern.

McGovern said he is determined that the nation's political system must be opened up to give a broader voice to those who now feel excluded. "I've about concluded that we ought to scrap this whole convention system," he said.

Angry Daley Defends Way 'Terrorists' Put Down

New York Times Service

Chicago — Infuriated by attacks upon himself, his city and his police force, Mayor Richard J. Daley defended Thursday the manner in which antiwar, anti-Humphrey demonstrations were suppressed in downtown Chicago Wednesday night.

Daley described the demonstrators as "terrorists" and said they had come here determined to "assault, harass and taunt the police into reacting before television cameras."

The stocky, heavy-jowled mayor flushed deeply as he denounced the reports of newspapers, radio and television.

Charges Distortion

He asserted that "the whole purpose of the city and the law enforcement agencies" had been "distorted and twisted."

"In the heat of emotion and riot," Daley said, "some policemen may have overreacted, but to judge the entire police force by the alleged action of a few would be just as unfair as to judge our entire younger generation by the actions of the mob."

When he had finished his toughly worded, combative remarks, the 65-year-old mayor said, "This is my statement, gentlemen; it speaks for itself," and stalked off the podium without giving newsmen an opportunity to ask him a single question.

Frank J. Sullivan, the police department's director of public information, took a similarly hard line at a news conference earlier.

'Revolutionaries'

Sullivan described the demonstrators as "revolutionaries" and called some of their leaders, including Tom Hayden and Rennie Davis, "Communists who are the allies of the men who are killing American soldiers."

"The intellectuals of America hate Richard J. Daley," Sullivan declared, "because he was elected by the people — unlike Walter Cronkite."

Besides Cronkite, the anchor man for the Columbia Broadcasting System's convention coverage, Sullivan denounced in general terms both CBS and the National Broadcasting Co. He argued that they had conducted a "colossal propaganda campaign" against Chicago and the Chicago police.

Czech Leaders Talk As Gloom Spreads

Prague (AP) —Liberal and pro-Moscow Communist leaders argued in secret Thursday over a party line that might get the Soviet bloc occupation forces out of Czechoslovakia. But there was little hope the troops would leave soon and gloom spread over the country.

Josef Smrkovsky, liberal president of the National Assembly, told the nation in a radio address that radio and newspapers will be restricted in their freedom, as indicated by party chief Alexander Dubcek earlier this week. He also said that, in response to Soviet demands, political clubs will be banned.

Smrkovsky said these measures will be temporary and will be discussed by the National Assembly in the next few days.

'Too Painful'

Discussing the talks in Moscow that led to the measures, Smrkovsky called them "still too painful and difficult a subject."

He said, "At one point we thought we had no choice but to reject a compromise and thought that in the interest of the nation . . . it would be better to face bayonets with bare breasts."

But, he added, "when he heroic and united attitude of the Czech and Slovak people began to manifest itself," it influenced the attitude of the Soviet leaders."

Clandestine Radios

Also under Soviet pressure, clandestine radios were going off the air. They had sprung up since the Soviet, Polish, East German, Hungarian and Bulgarian troops marched in last week.

The radios had been under Soviet attack ever since President Ludvik Svoboda, Dubcek and other leaders returned this week from Moscow, where they were forced to sign an agreement accepting the occupation. The Russians were irritated because the Czechoslovak leaders had not ordered the radios off the air.

The Communist Party meeting was not held at headquarters, which remained unguarded by Soviet tanks. It probably was being held at some factory in Prague's grimy industrial district.

'67 Farm Cash Receipts Total Record $1.7 Billion

By the Associated Press

Nebraska News

Cash receipts from farm marketing during 1967 totaled a record high $1,735,000,000 during 1967, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported Thursday.

The figure is 3% over the $1,681,000,000 received during the former record year of 1966 and added to $134.5 million in government payments makes the grand total $1,870,000,000, another record.

Livestock and livestock products brought $1,161,000,000 or 67% of the cash receipts, a $2 million increase over 1966, while crop cash receipts of $573 million set a new record and were 10% over last year's figure.

Cattlemen took in $844 million from the sale of cattle and calves for a new record although the average price per 100 pounds was down from 1966.

Cash receipts of $212 million for hogs were $15 million off the 1966 as the price per 100 pounds declined from $22.50 in 1966 to $18.50 in 1967.

Corn Up 18%

Corn was up about 18% to $238,491,000 and wheat and soybeans also showed marked improvements.

Lamb, sheep and wool sales were well under the 1966 figure.

Reduced marketing of butterfat cut dollar receipts way down while turkey and hay returns dipped slightly.

Returns from seed crops were the lowest in many years with only $745,000 received.

Cattle and calf sales accounted for 48.7% of the cash receipts, corn 13.8%, hogs 12.2%, wheat 7.6%, sorghum grain 5.2%, and soybeans 3.2%.

Omaha Choral Director, A Demo, To Lead 'Voices For Nixon' Groups

Omaha (AP) — Mrs. Don A. Strong of Omaha, a well known Omaha choral director and musician, has been selected to become the national director of "Voices for Nixon," choral groups which will be featured during Richard M. Nixon's Republican presidential campaign.

Mrs. Strong, who describes herself as a lifelong Democrat but a "very independent voter," said she was especially impressed with Nixon during his visit here last May.

She will direct volunteer choral groups in some 20 major metropolitan areas across the country between mid-September and election eve.

Mrs. Strong, known professionally as Leota Sneed Strong, is director of the Omaha Symphony Chorus and several other vocal groups including the Immanuel Nurses Choir, the First Christian Church Choir, the St. Thomas More Church Choir and the Duchesne Academy Singers.

Hiram Scott College Safety Probe Promised By Officials

Scottsbluff (AP) —The president of Hiram Scott College has the promise of Gov. Norbert Tiemann that a representative will take a look at traffic conditions around Hiram Scott College with a view to increasing safety.

Dr. Anthony Marinaccio received the assurance when he called the governor following a fatal car-pedestrian accident on state Highway 71 near the college this week.

Lower speed limits and warning signs have been suggested for the highway a mile north of here where it skirts the college campus.

The victim of the Tuesday night accident was David W. Peebles, 19, Kansas City, Mo., who was struck as he was walking along the highway with two other students.

Rural Youth Give $750 To National Exchange Project

Nebraska Rural Youth have contributed $750 to the National Farm Youth Exchange program, state Rural Youth President Elton Harriefeld of Lincoln reported Thursday.

Under the program, one young adult from Nebraska goes to a foreign country and two people from a foreign country come to Nebraska to study farming practices.

There presently are eight young people in Nebraska from England, France, Sweden, India, Venezuela, Cyprus and Holland. Nebraska has four youths in foreign countries — Jane Wiechert of Lincoln in Japan, Keith Olsen of Venango in India, Sharon Mueller of Davenport in Germany, and Douglas Nelson of Newman Grove in Colombia.

TURKEY TALK TAKING DROP

Nebraska farmers aren't talking quite as much turkey as they were last year.

The State-Federal Agricultural Reporting Service said Nebraska turkey farmers estimate they'll raise 880,000 turkeys this year — a drop of 4% from the 913,000 raised last year.

The service said 878,000 of the birds will be of the heavy variety, down 3% from last year, while 2,000 light turkeys are being raised compared to 9,000 last year.

The service said that across the nation, turkey farmers predicted they will raise 93 million turkeys this year, compared to 110 million last year.

Stricter Regulations On Beef Imports Urged

Broken Bow (AP)— A group of farm and ranch leaders have proposed stricter regulations on beef imports along with new legislation.

Thirty persons representing 10 organizations and two food chains, attended the meeting here called by the Nebraska Stock Growers and Cow Bells.

The group called attention to the economic necessity in curbing what it called "excessive" imports.

In other resolutions, the group recommended:

—Formation of a committee regarding farm and ranch organizations to suggest beef promotion regarding purchase and consumption of fresh beef solely produced in the United States.

Meet Proposed

—A meeting between farm commodity groups and the Nebraska Agriculture Department to determine legislation to allow individual commodity groups to receive and use checkoff funds for promotion, research, education and other needs.

—Continued support of programs of American National Cattlemen's Association and National Livestock Feeders Association dealing with beef imports.

—Publicizing of information on the number of jobs created by the beef industry and agriculture.

The group discussed the possibility of taking formal action against union restrictions which prohibit the sale of fresh meat over the counter at only those times when the counter is attended by union employes.

President Bob Hanna, Brownlee, of the Stock Growers presided at the meeting.

Charges Filed In 2 Fatalities At Fremont

From Press Reports

Dodge County Atty. Richard Kuhlman of Fremont Thursday said two counts of motor vehicle homicide were filed against Gerald D. Bradford, 27, of Arlington in connection with a two-car accident near Fremont Wednesday night which left two dead.

The dead were identified as Sherrill Goracke, 4, formerly of rural Fremont but now of Grand Island, and Mrs. Monica Gaetke, 30, of Omaha.

Chief Deputy Lloyd Jensen said a car driven by Bradford collided with one driven by Diane Goracke, 20, of Fremont, a cousin of the dead child. Jensen said Bradford was headed southeast and Miss Goracke was northwest bound on old Nebraska 8 about one-fourth mile outside of the Fremont limits.

Bradford and Miss Goracke were listed in fairly good condition at the Dodge County Community Hospital Thursday night.

An Iowa woman died in a one-car accident near Emerson in Dakota County.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

CHICAGO—In looking at this raw-boned Demcratic National Convention, one must distinguish between several general areas. The gathering in Miami Beach was without the conflicting oratory that has marked this Chicago gathering to date.

But the Democratic convention, actually, has been more orderly than the Miami affair. It has been more spirited, but still more orderly. There have not been in Chicago the inattention among delegates and the noise in the convention hall that marked the Miami affair.

But it has been a shouting affair here and one that comes to a close with emotions drawn tight. Along with the nomination, Vice President Hubert Humphrey won on every single roll call. It was not a day for those counted in the liberal arm of the party.

But such tags as "liberal" have come to be a little distorted here in Chicago. Humphrey has been one of the liberals in his party but now finds himself outside their ranks.

And many of those who favored the majority Vietnam plank count their position as a liberal one. They view the minority plank as a withdrawal of America from her international commitments and a return to isolationalism, the trademark of conservatism.

Yet the liberals of the Kennedy heritage and of the McCarthy and McGovern camps denounce the majority plank, seeing it as a refusal to change, another trademark of conservatism.

So if you are are inclined to label everything, you may have some difficulty in assessing the actions of this Democratic convention.

Too, this serves to demonstrate the difficulty that confronts Humphrey in the days and weeks ahead. As this is being written Humphrey still faces his appearance before the delegates who nominated him as their standard-bearer.

His job will be a tough one in bringing together all elements of his party for an effective campaign against Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew. He may accomplish some of this in his selection of a running mate, another action undetermined as of this writing.

Should the vice president be successful in November, he will face the disunity in his party, just as Nixon would have to face it. Nixon has not achieved unity without sacrifice and means that an impact of some kind upon his administration.

Clearly, Vietnam will be the thorn in the side of whoever wins the November contest. The minority plank here in Chicago on the war in Asia did reflect with accuracy the disenchantment of the American people with Vietnam.

But the minority plank proposed a solution to the problem that the American people still do not approve of. What, then, are the alternatives? Unfortunately, this is the puzzle that no one can figure out.

In the weeks ahead, the road will be as rocky for Nebraska Democrats as it will be for the national party. The Nebraska delegation split badly on almost every key roll call in Chicago.

It is a delegation not happy with the convention in a number of ways, not united behind its party officials and not blessed with good leadership. This will make it tough on a party that starts out in a minority position among the voters of its state.

Nixon, of course, gives most Democrats no alternative but to support their pary. Too, it has been characteristic in the past for this party to heal the deepest of divisions for the sake of victory at the polls.

But the only real certainty at this point is that the battle between the two parties has now been joined and the voters in November will judge the convention decisions of this summer.

PHYLLIS BATTELLE

The Young Bewail Loss Of McCarthy

CHICAGO — And now where will they go — the rootless and the dissatisfied, the passionate pacifists, the boys with beards who shaved and put on ties to be "Clean for Gene," the women who loved him because he didn't want their kids to go to war, the mature men who yearned for an intellect and wit in the White House?

First, predicted the McCarthy followers, they will go into a state of shock and disillusionment. Then they will go into action. (At least the younger ones.)

"There's no way anyone can stop some kind of mass effort, by millions of us, to work for the destruction of the Democratic Party. This is the death-knell for Hubert Humphrey, because we will start a fourth party. With Wallace pulling away votes from the right, and Nixon carrying the near-right (but never quite right) our votes will be sufficient to keep Humphrey from getting a victory," said a 23-year-old Chicago youth.

"There is talk about a spontaneous McCarthy write-in," observed David Wolf of Princeton, N.J. "We're disappointed that McCarthy has said he won't personally run with a fourth party, but there are others who might.

"How do we know that Senator Fulbright wouldn't run, or John Kenneth Galbraith? They feel strongly for a peace party, and they might do it."

"You're going to have hundreds of thousands of people in the streets," said Susan Wolf, 23, David's pretty blonde wife. "The biggest immediate single result of McCarthy's defeat will be more violence in the streets, and greater disruption at the universities. Schools start in another week — just when the disillusionment is highest. It's perfectly timed for a resurgence of violent ferment."

Madeline Jamison, a full-time staffer for the senator since last April, said she doubted that many of McCarthy's supporters will leave Chicago this weekend.

"We have no idea of giving up," she said. "Elaborate plans for a fourth party convention will be made this weekend. Everybody is working on finding a candidate. Don Edwards (congressman of California, and former chairman of Americans for Democratic Action) might take it on."

"We've been channeled for action," said a 19-year-old college student from New York, "and now we're not going to let it all come loose."

Several persons interviewed said they were in hopes that Eugene McCarthy himself might "give us direction" as to what action to take.

"He's told us he can't lead a fourth party, and since he always means what he says, we must accept it," said Vince Barrett, 19, a Chicago junior college student. "He's done his share. But I don't think he'll leave us dangling. He'll help point a direction."

And Jan Petter Odegaard, 21, an exchange student from Norway, summed up the feeling in broken English, but flawless import:

"I feel sad for all these Americans I see. I do not understand, perhaps, the intricacies of your political system but the more I listen, the more I have a feeling that your people, especially the young ones, are desperate because they feel helpless. They work and they talk, and they can do nothing."

The Democrats Didn't Die

Reports of the death of the Democratic Party have been greatly exaggerated.

The Democratic Party did not die in Chicago, despite the claims of those disappointed that the candidacy of Eugene McCarthy failed. The party was wounded, but it will survive.

Remember four years ago, when the Republicans shut out the liberal wing of their party and booed Nelson Rockefeller when he tried to express himself? That was the convention which nominated Barry Goldwater, the convention that cheered when he said extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice. A lot of people said that night marked the end of the two-party system in America. They said the Republicans would never recover.

Today, of course, the Republicans are alive and kicking, and at this moment could probably win the White House. The GOP survived, and so will the Democrats.

It was to be expected that the rejection of the peace plank would bring cries of protest. But it is hoped that those who supported that plank and who supported McCarthy and Sen. George McGovern are not now so alienated that they pick up their football and go home. Walking out on the democratic process, even when it seems rigged against you, never accomplished anything. The football coach would say, "Stay in there and fight." And that's what the doves in the Democratic Party should do, hang in there and fight, within the framework of the party and the system.

It will pay off. Look at Richard Nixon. He didn't withdraw, and today he's back on top. And being on top of a vibrant, alive political party—as the Democratic Party remains, despite its troubles—is worth fighting for.

Carnival, Corn And Cattle

Nebraska's biggest annual show, the 1968 State Fair, opens today with the usual promise of breaking all records. It is usual because the State Fair gets better every year and because there are more people every year to participate in it.

Those who miss the State Fair are missing a real attraction. For the small admission charge alone, you can see more than you would find in any other single place.

The various exhibits will show you the latest developments in a host of areas. While exhibits are heavy on agriculture, the city dweller can find many things to interest him. And it is an education worth having to see the evolution of agriculture.

This year's grandstand show attraction features Al Hirt who plays, in our mind, about the best trumpet in the land. A host of other fine acts are also on the program.

There will be the regular midway attractions, too, with thrill rides, games of chance, etc. There may be a little dirt or mud, too, as the weather dictates, but that is all a part of the fair.

Bands will be parading at all hours, livestock is present in abundance and the arts of homemaking are prominently displayed. Anyone who can't find something of interest and entertainment at the State Fair has gotten into a rut from which he ought to dislodge himself. Lincoln welcomes the fair, its exhibitors, its contestants, its entertainers and its patrons. Certainly, nothing like it will come along for another year.

People, Politics Produced Two Candidates And Misgivings Must Soon Be Laid Aside

CHICAGO — So after all is said and done, it is to be Nixon vs. Humphrey. After New Hampshire, after March 31, after Rockefeller went out and came back in, after Oregon, after June 5 in Los Angeles — after all that, it is still Nixon vs. Humphrey. Despite all expedients — despite fourth-party talk, stay-at-home schemes, extremes like voting for George Wallace — despite all such notions, it still is going to be Nixon vs. Humphrey next November.

It is strange how distasteful the choice seems. Humphrey, everyone knows, has a distinguished record of service to liberal causes over the years, and no one who knows him could suggest that he is anything but a decent and intelligent man. Nixon, it may not be so generally conceded, is one of the most intelligent men in American politics, with a sharp grasp of an impressive range of issues.

On the question of the war, it is scarcely to be doubted that either man, as president, would move as rapidly as possible to get a negotiated settlement. This is not because of what either will say or not say in this campaign, but because once in office, the full enormity of the burden the war imposes on the American spirit, budget, and society will grind him down as it has ground down Lyndon Johnson; and that will be quickly apparent to any president not grimly and unshakably determined to see his own policies vindicated. If anything, Nixon must be given an edge here, for his greater freedom from past responsibility.

On the American crisis of city and environment, Humphrey is almost the personification of the party with the better record of human concern on social and economic problems; but while Nixon deserves less confidence on these issues, his party by its very nature may offer more hope of escape from the massive federalizing of everything, with its accompanying impersonality, rigidity, irrelevance and misplacement of priorities. On balance, Humphrey appears the better risk.

So on these great "issues," the Nixon-Humphrey choice seems little less inspiring than some of those Americans have been offered in the past. It is somewhere in the indefinable but profoundly important region beyond issues that the sense of malaise and impending decline hovers, a grim cloud on the edge of vision.

Can either of these men unify this torn, fearful, unhappy, racially smoldering people, and call forth — as the orators here and at Miami Beach endlessly pledged — the best that is in the American spirit?

Can either of them somehow bridge the gulf of misunderstanding and suspicion between the children of depression and the children of affluence, between past and future, tradition and tomorrow?

Can either lead a great nation to an equitable and constructive place, neither domineering nor subservient, in a world of landmarks toppling and strange forces emerging?

How can Richard Nixon do any of these things, with his visible calculations of political mileage, his predilection for expedient maneuver, and the tone in his campaign of white reaction to black aspiration?

How can Hubert Humphrey so lead the country, with his immersion in the glories of an irrelevant past, his lack of intellectual discipline, and the clear indications that he is the political and spiritual creature of the Johnson administration that so many Americans have sought to put behind them?

Still, it is all there is. The fact is Nixon vs. Humphrey, and what is important now is not to dwell on the might-have-beens and not to take counsel of justified fears, but—in an old and honorable phrase—to make do with what we have.

After all, if this is what our politics produced, it is only what the American people produced. The choices were clear, the opportunities were limitless, the leaders came forward. The parties and the people have the nominees they deserve, and no matter who is elected in November, they have no honest choice but to pledge him their best.

The Wounds Go Deep

CHICAGO—The big question now before the Democratic Party is: Can it heal its wounds as effectively as it opens them up? Democrats have always been famous for practicing democracy. They row and feud and castigate each other, and usually afterward they have been able to forget and forgive — but not always.

Twice in the last half century, wounds have been so deep that they festered for some years thereafter. After the 1924 battle between Al Smith, a Catholic, and William Gibbs McAdoo, Woodrow Wilson's son-in-law and a Protestant, the party did not entirely recover from this religious battle until 1960, when it elected its first Catholic president, John F. Kennedy.

Again in 1948 when Hubert Humphrey forced a showdown on civil rights and the South walked out, it took almost 20 years for the wounds to heal. The fact that the South generally supported Hubert in Chicago is proof that it has been willing to forgive and forget, though it took time to do.

But will the thousands of passionate youngsters who mill in the streets and the hotel lobbies for McCarthy and McGovern be able to forgive and forget?

No, they will not forgive and forget. Those who are of voting age can be chalked up as doing their best to disrupt the Democratic Party from now until November.

But what about the housewives, the schoolteachers, the sincere middle-class Americans, the intellectuals who took a passionate dive into politics, many for the first time because they were against the war and became enamored by the charm and courage and the aloof coolness of Eugene McCarthy? They represent a substantial portion of the Democratic Party. Will they come back to the Democratic fold? That is the really important question. This could tip the scale between victory or defeat in November.

Most of the Negroes, except for the very young who can't remember the civil rights courage of Hubert Humphrey — or else don't want to — will support him. Most of white suburbia middle-class America in the South, and part in the North, will vote for George Wallace. This will hurt Nixon about as much as it hurts Humphrey.

But what about the very large group of middle-age, middle-bracket McCarthyites who raised millions of dollars for their idol and worked for him day and night, partly in opposition to the war, partly because they came to idolize McCarthy? In doing so they developed almost a hatred for Humphrey. How will they vote in November? Upon that question may depend who will be the next president of the United States.

The answer will depend in part on the leaders of these dissidents. Both are former college professors. Sen. George McGovern of Dakota Wesleyan University is a tolerant former neighbor of Hubert Humphrey, himself a former professor at MacAlester College. McGovern undoubtedly remembers the occasions when Hubert raised money for his campaigns and pushed him to head the Food for Peace Committee.

Professor Eugene McCarthy may not have such a clearcut memory for the days when Professor Humphrey pushed him ahead in politics, how in 1958 when Gene was running his first time for the Senate, Humphrey brought in Sen. William Benton of Connecticut, who was born in Minnesota, and Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois to campaign for him, or how in 1960 HHH tried to persuade Lyndon Johnson to take McCarthy as vice president on the first LBJ ticket.

McCarthy is almost certain to be invited to be president of Columbia University, where President Grayson Kirk has just retired, a university which very much needs McCarthy leadership and inspiration.

In many respects, the presidency of a great university is better suited to Gene McCarthy's talents than either the Senate or the White House. He is more of a scholar than a politician, more a philosopher than an executive.

He made a great contribution to the present campaign. He made it come alive. He lifted up several million young people and others who hated war. He had the courage to jump into what looked like a hopeless presidential race with no money, nothing except an idea and faith.

Flying Words

Hastings, Neb.

Occassionally politicians are carried away by their rhetoric and ignore facts. Consider former New York Governor Thomas Dewey, telling the delegates at the 1968 GOP National Convention that the Republican Party had been in power about half the time in this century and that during that time, America was not involved in a war.

If Mr. Dewey had consulted an encyclopedia, he would have found that the Filipino Insurrecton started in 1899 and ended March, 1901, with the capture of Aguinaldo, leader of the insurrection. Even Mr. Dewey would have to admit that 1900 and 1901 were in the 20th Century and that America was at war during a Republican administration.

It is about time that politicians learned: "Boys flying kites pull in their white winged birds, but you can't do that when you are flying words."

Likes Jogging

Lincoln, Neb.

In reference to The Star's editorial on the benefits and hazards of jogging, I have found jogging a mile each morning to be a great way to start the day. This is a wonderful program for men whose work is sedentary.

I have also found the hazards to be real. People do give you that look that is due the latest penal complex or state hospital escapee. I have been chased by dogs, women have hid behind bushes at my approach, and — as the editorial suggests — there are the police. Being Negro probably doesn't help a lot, either.

I have found that, followed by a warm then cold shower, this practice tones up both body and mind for the day's activities. In spite of the hazards involved, I plan to continue. So — College View residents and law-enforcement friends, please be advised. The huffing, puffing Afro-American you may see running between 6:00 and 6:20 a.m. presents no cause for alarm or consternation.

Beatrice Home

Diller, Neb.

Does anyone know who the man was with Lee Terry on the Sunday TV show at 5:30, "Out of the Darkness"? Was he a patient or an employe of the Beatrice State Home? I assume that he was, as he seemed to know so much about it.

Perhaps he should be there, helping them with their problems. His talent should not be wasted.

Why condemn the whole staff for the mistakes of a few? The home is understaffed on the wards and I'm sure always will be. There are just too many generals and not enough soldiers, but no one can or ever will do anything about it, so why keep talking about all these things being so bad at the home?

Not until the day comes when there are more employes and fewer patients will the situation better itself.

Gun Registration

Hastings, Neb.

Our Constitution gives the people the right to be the king of their own home and protect it. The communists seem to have a move on to take away that right. When they begin to take over a city, they don't want any opposition. They don't want to have to destroy the cities. They want them as they are. It would take them 15 years to rebuild them.

They want to disarm the people. They want them to have to throw rocks at the communist tanks as they come up the streets, as the Germans did. In other nations, the right to bear arms was not taken away suddenly. The controls were tightened a little more with each law until freedom was gone.

Uncle Sam has just signed a treaty with Russia toward a move to disarm us. I would just as soon sign a treaty with a lion.

Registration of guns is not a deterrent to crime.

Foster Home Is Part Of Special Ed Program

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Not only will school be starting Tuesday for boys and girls slated to attend the new unit for trainable retarded children in Lincoln, but also an introduction to a weekday foster home is in store for at least 15 of the group.

About one-sixth of the 84 youths registered so far for the special education program at General Arnold School will be living in two nearby residences sponsored by the Capital Association for Retarded Children.

The children, ranging in age from 5 to 17, live too far from the trainable nit for their parents to transpor them daily, explained Wilvon West, CARC executive director.

Joint Operation

Educational Service Unit No. 6, which includes Lancaster, York, Saline, Fillmore and Seward Counties, and the Lincoln school disrict are jointly operating and sending students to the trainable unit.

Each Sunday evening during the school year parents will take their children to the former Air Base houses and then pick them up on Friday evenings for weekends at home.

The living units' worst problems are expected to be the "traumatic adjustment to living away from home," according to West.

However, West has lined up housemothers who have had experience in working with children to supervise the two households.

Peace Corpsmen

Living at 4301 Carswell, across from the school's entrance, will be Mrs. David (Sharon) Huegel and her husband, both ex-Peace Corps members. Mrs. Huegel also has worked at the village for retarded children in Axtell.

Mrs. Gary (Beverly, Meyer, her husband and infant son will provide the home away from home at 5225 McGuire, directly east of the school. Mrs. Meyer is a former nurse's aide.

Each six-bedroom residence, remodeled duplexes, will house both boys and girls of all ages to stimulate as much of a family situation as possible, West pointed out.

Starting the year with limited furniture and equipment, parents will have to provide their child's bedding and take care of their own laundry. CARC is still seeking beds, chests of drawers, couches, televisions, washers and dryers, drapes and other items to furnish the homes.

Monthly cost of the room and board will be $125 per child.

Social Skills

Although the residence program is independent of the trainable unit, the houses will be used for teaching social skills to all of the enrollees. During the day the regular teachers are expected to take their classes to the houses for instruction in basic living skills — how to take care of their clothes, rooms and themselves.

Recreation is still somewhat of an unsolved problem for the residence program in that fire regulations prohibit use of the basements without expensive remodeling, and CARC has no funds for taking the children to activities outside of the home.

West predicted that the living units will be at their capacity of 20 children by the middle of the school year.

Charles Falls, director of the trainable unit, indicated that the school's final enrollment would be about 95 boys and girls. Of those enrolled so far, 57 are from Lincoln and 27 are from other areas.

Ten teachers, plus voluntary and part-time instructors for special subjects, constitute the training staff.

LENDING A HAND . . . to Mrs. Huegel during moving operations is Joseph F. Clark, executive director of the Lincoln Housing Authority.

State Hospital Therapist Joins Staff Of LARC

Tom Frasier, a Lincoln State Hospital therapist, has been appointed director of the Lancaster Association for Retarded Children rehabilitation and evaluation program, it was announced Thursday.

Frasier, who served as physical education director and recreation therapist at the state hospital, succeeds Mrs. Leola Novak. She has been named research specialist for the Capital Association for Retarded Children.

The new LARC administrator, 24, also has worked at Whitehall Home and served as youth director for Trinity Methodist Church for the past three years.

Mrs. Novak, who planned and developed the independent living rehabilitation center at LARC and previously served as superintendent of the LARC school, joins the CARC staff Monday.

Ex-Marine From Omaha Suffers Beating During 'Stroll' In Chicago

Lincoln Star Special

Chicago — Among the eye witnesses to Wednesday night's violence along Michigan Ave. here in Chicago was Ed Fogarty, 28-year-old Omahan just released from the Marine Corps.

Fogarty stopped in Chicago to visit a friend in the Nebraska delegation. Wednesday night he strolled over to the Hilton Hotel "to see what was going on."

It was a mistake.

He quickly found himself in a crowd being herded up the avenue and onto a side street by a squad of Chicago police.

"We had been moved off the avenue," he said, "and onto the sidewalk of a side street. The crowd was moving as directed by police and a generally good job was being done by them.

"Then, a shout was heard — 'move them on.' The police charged the sidewalk crowd. I was hit on the back a number of times and on the head.

"I raised my arm to protect my head and was clubbed on the wrist. My watch is gone and I don't know where it is."

Fogarty fingered a hole in his wrist, scabbed over but swollen.

"They wouldn't stop hitting me," he said, "and my legs were beginning to weaken. They never relented but finally I did outrun them."

"When the attack started, the crowd had been totally under control. The police turned an exemplary job into a disgrace."

Fogarty has some credentials for judgment. He was legal officer for a Marine riot control squad while in the service, including a stretch in Vietnam.

Fogarty is visiting Dave Cullen of Omaha, a law college classmate at Creighton University in the class of 1965.

Other Nebraskans, also, testified to the horror of the Wednesday night affair. Watching it first hand but escaping any police action were David K. Martin of Omaha, a worker in the Sen. Eugene McCarthy camp, and Pat Healey, husband of Lincoln delegate Jan Healey.

Both Martin and Healey were highly critical of the relentless manner in which the police beat youths and the indiscriminate clubbing of anyone who happened by.

Weekend Hours At City Landfill To Be Extended

City Public Works Director Robert Obering announced Thursday that the city sanitary landfill on No. 48th will be open until 7 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays on a three-month trial basis.

The city dump formerly closed at 4 p.m. on Saturdays and noon on Sundays but the City Council during recent budget sessions authorized the additional hours.

"Council members felt the new weekend hours would give people an opportunity to take wastes to the landfill at more opportune times," Obering said.

"It is important that people realize that this is on a trial basis and another look will be taken at the weekend hours when the trial period is over."

The landfill is open from 6:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays. It also opens at 6:30 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday

Prince To Return 12 Men If U.S. OKs Border Line

Madras, India (UPI) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia said in an interview published Thursday he would release a captured U.S. ship and its 12-man crew if the United States would recognize his nation's borders as drawn by Cambodia.

Cambodia and South Vietnam have been involved in a long dispute over the frontier where it wanders through heavy jungle. The area has been the scene of some alleged intrusions of American and South Vietnamese troops.

The vessel Sihanouk mentioned in the interview published by the Indian Express was seized July 11 on the Mekong River, and in past statements Sihanouk has demanded a bulldozer as ransom for each member of the crew.

Sihanouk claims the vessel intruded into Cambodian territory. The United States has apologized, blaming the incident on a navigational error but Sihanouk has refused to accept the apology.

Test Of State's Sterilization Law Carried To U.S. Supreme Court

The challenge of a 1957 Nebraska law permitting the sterilization of mentally deficient patients as a condition for release from the Beatrice State Home Thursday was carried to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Word of the action came in a notice of appeal filed with the State Supreme Court by Grand Island Attorney Vincent L. Dowding.

The State Supreme Court had rejected a motion for rehearing on the case after ruling last March that it is constitutional to permit the patients to be sterilized.

Dowding, an attorney for Gloria Cavitt, 41, a former patient of the home who had been ordered sterlized, had brought the test case to the court on the grounds that it provides for cruel and unusual punishment in violation of the U.S. Constitution.

When the state high court re rejected Dowding's contention, four of the seven justices had dissented but it takes five objecting votes to hold a law uncontitutional in Nebraska.

The tribunal said the sterlization practice was a proper exercise of the state's police power and could not be construed as compulsory or inhumane because it is only used if the mentally deficient person insists upon release from the state home after examination by several doctors.

The dissenting justices held that the law was defective because it does not provide for proper safeguards nor does it require the state to prove mental deficiency would be passed on to a patient's offspring.

Driving Faster Saves Little Time

How much time can you save by driving 100 miles at 75 miles an hour instead of 65? Just 12 minutes and 4 seconds, according to Accident Records Bureau Chief Tom Ryan.

In a table he has compiled, Ryan lists the driving time for 100 miles going 65 miles an hour at 1 hour, 32 minutes and 4 seconds. By going 10 miles an hour faster, it's 1 hour and 20 minutes.

In a 75 miles-an-hour zone, a driver traveling 80 miles gets there just 7 minutes and 32 seconds quicker by doing 85, Ryan's chart says.

Liberator Says He Likes Nixon Better Than HHH

Valentine (UPI) — Americus Liberator, the Valentine ranch hand who collected 1,314 votes in Nebraska's presidential primary, said today if he can't be president he hopes Richard Nixon can.

"I'm still a write-in candidate this fall," said the 57-year-old self-styled "non-political, non-partisan, realist, grass roots conservative, states-minded independent."

"But if I was to drop out I'd vote for Nixon," he said.

"I ain't a bit surprised that Humphrey won," Liberator said when told Hubert Humphrey had won the Democratic presidential nomination. "I would favor Humphrey before McCarthy. But I hope Nixon beats hell out of Humphrey in the fall."

Liberator said he "didn't even bother to follow" either convention on television. "I'm non-political and both conventions were nothing but politics," he said. "I just clipped a few things out of the newspapers on the conventions."

"I consider both Humphrey and Nixon both politicians and I have no use for politicians," Liberator said. "But I like Nixon better than Humphrey."

Nebraska Delegates Divided In Reaction To Police Action

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Chicago — Nebraska delegates to the Democratic National Convention were, as usual, sharply divided Thursday over the strong arm tactics used by Chicago police to disperse demonstrators Wednesday night.

Richard Swenson of Omaha, a strong supporter of Vice President Hubert Humphrey, wired President Johnson requesting him to take action to "see that those who are responsible (for police brutality) be promptly brought to justice."

Swenson, an attorney, told the President he was "shocked by police brutality that occurred in Chicago last night."

Tremendous

But O'Neill rancher L. D. Putnam told a caucus of the Nebraska delegation that Mayor Richard Daley should be formally praised for "a tremendous job" in hosting the convention.

Putnam said the press had distorted the confrontation between police and demonstrators outside the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

"It's high time they started taking pictures of the good people," he declared.

Swenson said he is "deeply embarrassed that our national party was involved in these atrocities, even as an innocent bystander."

No Action

Jerry Krombery of Lincoln suggested that the delegation officially endorse Swenson's statement, but no action was taken.

Phil Nestor of Tecumseh said he believes that the demonstrators "deserved everything they got." Nestor said: "I'm for Mayor Daley all the way."

State Chairman John Mitchell of Omaha was personally "very thankful for what Mayor Daley and his committee have done to give protection to the delegates."

While he does not condone burtality, Mitchell said, "It sometimes requires some force to protect innocent people."

At least, Mitchell said, "the streets are safe."

David Evans of Omaha told the delegation he believes that the young protestors honored the Democratic Party in presenting their grievances to it.

"It is a tribute to the Democratic Party that they came to us," Evans said. "They asked us to consider the issues."

Evans said young demonstrators were not so aggrieved by the defeat of Sen. Eugene McCarthy as they were by "the series of defeats" in the convention on issues of vital importance to them, such as the Vietnam platform plank and the question of racism involved in a number of credentials fights.

Chicago policemen, he said, "overreacted" to the taunts of demonstrators. "Many kids quit, but the police refused to quit."

Jacqueline Nielsen of Omaha said she "feel(s) a whole lot better now" because some of Humphrey's supporters can understand, perhaps for the first time, "what we were protesting."

Delegation Chairman Hans Jensen of Aurora praised the efforts of the young people and urged the party not to alienate them and turn them away.

Swenson said there was "a concentrated attempt to break up the Democratic Party last night" when the convention erupted into bitter recrimination.

"And I think they succeeded," he declared.

HHH Aims At Prompt End Of War

the 28-year-old Negro state legislator from Georgia, was entered by party insurgents as a rival. But Bond, who isn't old enough to serve, withdrew his name, and Muskie was chosen overwhelmingly.

Humphrey, whose hour of political triumph was marred by bitter street violence Wednesday night, said Muskie would take a major role in "the most exciting and challenging campaign we have had since the days of Franklin Roosevelt."

The convention's final session began with a memorial tribute to the assassinated Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, who died campaigning for its White House nomination.

Introduced By Ted

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, who vetoed a brief movement to draft him for nomination, introduced a film account of his brother's career with a recorded message.

The film brought cheering, singing delegates and spectators to their feet, many of them close to tears.

Edward Kennedy thanked Democrats who aided his brother's 80-day campaign, cut short by a hail of bullets in Los Angeles, and said:

"Each of us has a promise to keep. If my brother's life and death had one meaning above all others it was this: that we should not hate but love one another, that our strength should be used not to create the conditions that lead to violence but the conditions of justice that lead to peace."

Beneath the veneer of Humphrey's victory was a deeply troubled party, its Vietnam dissenters in revolt against a party platform which clung to the administration line.

'Stormtrooper Tactics'

Humphrey denounced what he called "stormtrooper tactics," assailed both police violence and the youthful demonstrators, but defended the extraordinary security precautions at the convention.

"I want to make it quite clear that I don't think people can choose the laws they want to abide by," he said.

Defends Daley

He said Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, who became a focus of the anger displayed by many Democrats, had no choice but to erect the security system.

"Mrs. Humphrey and I have been threatened with assassination half a dozen times," he said. "What was Daley to do?"

The Texas White House said President Johnson deplores violence, "all kinds of violence. He has always believed that people should abide by the law," said press secretary George Christian.

Muskie, a Roman Catholic, has served in the Senate since 1959, building a reputation as a quiet, competent lawmaker and an ally of the administration.

He was elected governor of Maine at 40.

The 6-foot-5 senator, a Roman Catholic of Polish ancestry, played a key role in the passage in recent years of model cities and other urban legislation and governmental relationships and to curb air and water pollution.

Humphrey said he puts great stress on Muskie's experience in urban affairs and said that, if the ticket is elected, he would turn over supervision of many programs in that area to his vice president.

Police Seize N.H. Delegate At Convention

Chicago (AP) — New Hampshire's delegation to the Democratic National Convention lost its chairman Thursday night — he was taken into custody by Chicago police.

David C. Hoeh, of Hanover, N.H., was seized when fellow delegates said he attempted to show that a credit card would actuate the electronic machines which scan the credentials of delegates and others seeking admittance to the International Amphitheatre.

Police said later Hoeh had been released without any charges being filed. The delegation chairman was held in custody up to an hour after his seizure by convention guards.

Hoeh first cleared his delegate card in the machine.

'Phony' Things

Then, fellow delegates said he commented: "These things are phony — any old credit card will work."

They said Hoeh shoved a credit card into the slot, and when the indicator light showed red, an usher called police, who took him away.

The machine shows a green light when it is satisfied with the admittance card

Petition Signed

Joseph Millimet, of Manchester, N.H., the state's Democratic national committeeman and a lawyer, left the convention hall to go to Hoeh's assistance at the precinct police station.

Pennsylvania Art Recovered

Bradford, Pa. (UPI) — The FBI Thursday recovered $1.4 million worth of paintings and sculptures stolen last week from the home of an oil fortune heir.

The items were rushed to the FBI laboratory in Washington for further examination.

They were taken Aug. 21 from the home of Dr. Edward T. Hanley, 74, a longtime and widely-known art collector. The works included Picasso's "Moulin Rouge," painted in 1901 and valued at $500,000, and a 1906 watercolor portrait of Vallier by Cezanne valued at $450,000.

The FBI said no arrests were made. It refused to reveal details of the recovery except to say the works were found in a rural area near Kane, Pa., south of here.

GOP Victory Is Predicted By Tiemann

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann said Thursday the Democratic Party has been "irreparably" damaged by disturbances at its convention in Chicago and predicted a Republican victory this fall.

"I think the disturbances both in and out of the convention hall caused irreparable damage to the Democratic Party," the Republican governor said. "They have a reputation for being able to get together and bind wounds, but I don't think they can do it this time."

Tiemann said the convention also has given Republicans "an excellent opportunity to make an appeal to young people."

"If any group should be disgusted with what happened it should be the young people," he said. "If any convention was rigged it was this one."

The governor said the nomination of Hubert Humphrey and his choice of Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine as his running mate came as "no surprise."

"I don't see what Muskie adds to the ticket, but it comes as no surprise," he said.

Tiemann said the latest polls show Republican Richard Nixon running ahead of Humphrey and that he thinks the convention results should aid Nixon's lead. "I would hope Nixon and Agnew will exploit the division in the Democratic Party," he said. "I think they will."

Nebraskan Urges Liberals To Back Humphrey

Lincoln Star Special

Chicago — Liberal Democrats who may be unhappy with the choice of Democratic presidential nominee Hubert Humphrey should, nevertheless, support him in November, a Nebraska supporter of the late Robert F. Kennedy said Thursday.

"The only thing a liberal Democrat can do if he is actually interested in getting things done is to vote for Humphrey against Richard Nixon," Hugh Luke of Lincoln declared.

Luke, an English professor at the University of Nebraska, was research coordinator for the Nebraska presidential primary campaign of Robert Kennedy.

The Lincolnite also served former Lt. Gov. Philip Sorensen in his 1964 campaign for lieutenant governor and his 1966 campaign for governor.

Luke, Nebraska's sergeant-at-arms at the national convention actively worked for the candidacy of Sen. Eugene McCarthy in Chicago.

Now that they have lost, Luke said liberal Democrats should not abandon the Democratic Party or vote for Nixon or "go fishing in November.

"That would be wrong," he suggested.

If Humphrey is elected, Luke said, it will be important "whether he has a power base formed by George Meany and Lester Maddox or by people who supported Senator Kennedy, Senator McGovern and Senator McCarthy."

No matter how strongly liberal Democrats may disagree on administration policy with respect to Vietnam, Luke said, "Nixon certainly is no better on almost all other things.

On most domestic issues, "we share the political attitudes of Hubert Humphrey, Luke noted.

"We share virtually none of the political attitudes of Richard Nixon."

To support Nixon would be "to abandon all the causes we have worked for, for so long," Luke said.

"And to refuse to support Humphrey in November would, in effect, be supporting Nixon."

Agnew Criticizes Police, Protests

Ocean City, Md. (AP) — Spiro T. Agnew, the Republican vice presidential nominee, criticized both peace demonstrators and police Thursday for their actions during disturbances which broke out Wednesday night in Chicago, site of the Democratic National Convention.

But the Maryland governor said he did not think the violence, or the deep split over Vietnam within the Democratic Party, would have much effect on the November presidential election.

McCarthy Committee

Cedar Rapids, Iowa (UPI) — Linn County backers of Sen. Eugene McCarthy announced they are forming a committee to work within the Democratic Party to pursue the ideas of the Minnesota senator.

City Urged To Appeal Ruling On Bus Service

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf's committee on bus service Thursday recommended that the city appeal the recent State Railway Commission ruling permitting Lincoln City Lines to cut back on evening and Sunday-holiday service.

Assistant City Attorney Dick Wood said he would file a motion for rehearing before the commission Friday.

The committee also took steps to mold itself into a permanent advisory group by naming as permanent chairman, Lincoln accountant E. Ross Martin.

The committee announced it will name subcommittees to research suggestions for better bus service.

By direction of the committee, the appeal will ask that Lincoln City Lines reinstate service as scheduled before its application was granted in part by the railway commission.

The privately-owned firm had asked the commission for permission to end week night runs, except Thursday, at 7:15 p.m. and for a complete cut of Sunday service.

The commission ordered, effective Sept. 2, that the bus company be allowed to cut back to 8:15 on week nights, except for 9:15 downtown departures on Thursday night.

It further ordered the firm to supply bus service on Sunday from 9:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m., but allowed a suspension of service on holidays, which wasn't requested.

In defense of it's application for reduced service, Lincoln City Lines claims it is 90,000 passengers below 1967's first six months figures and that gross revenues are down by $20,000.

The firm projects that by Sept. 1, it will be $6,000 in the red for 1968.

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf created the bus service committee upon the filing of the company's application before the commission.

Thursday the mayor asked his committee to come up with "any constructive ideas that will work" to upgrade bus service, either through Lincoln City Lines or other alternatives.

Lincoln City Lines holds a 20-year franchise with the city that will expire in October, 1983.

Labor Leaders Urge Purchasing Before Holiday

Omaha (AP) — Omaha labor leaders urged the public Thursday to make necessary purchases ahead of Labor Day instead of helping to reduce a national holiday to a "business as usual" day.

"Buy your needs prior to Labor Day and let those workers who have been required to work on Labor Day celebrate the day in a cathedral-like atmosphere in a store devoid of customers, said State President Richard W. Nisley of the Nebraska AFL-CIO, and Robert Danze, president of the Omaha Central Labor Union in a joint statement.

"While we understand the plight of many businesses who are swept up in the malestrom of competition for the business dollar," the statement said, "we cannot condone or look favorably upon situations which require workers organized or unorganized to be at the old stand punching the register as usual — especially on Labor Day."

Judge Orders Forfiet On $300 Bond For Miller

Fremont (AP) — Dodge County Judge Richard Morehouse ordered a $300 bond posted by former Inglewood Marshal William F. Miller forfeited when Miller failed to make a court appearance.

Defense Atty. Harry Stevens told the court he had tried to contact Miller without success. Stevens asked the court if he could withdraw from the case and permission was granted.

Miller was charged with obstructing and perverting justice as a result of an incident Aug. 9 while he was marshal. Fremont police reports said Miller reported three men were possibly planning to blow up the Highway 77 bridge on the Platte River, south of Fremont, and a nearby Burlington Railroad bridge.

Midway Again Boasts 'Biggest, Best'

New Rides Featured At State Fair

By JIM STEVENSON
Star Staff Writer

For perhaps the 99th time since its beginning, the 99th annual Nebraska State Fair boasts the "biggest and best" midway show ever.

And, once again, it may well be just that.

New rides and attractions will accompany old favorites on the midway this year, show contractor W. T. Collins points out.

The some 800 persons who work in the Collins show produced a flurry of activity Thursday as they readied the midway for Friday's kickoff.

A "Double Sky Wheel," an imported thrill ride from Germany, the "Zipper," a larger bumper car ride than ever before and the "Tempest" are featured on the midway for the first time.

Horrors And Fun

And if thrill rides aren't your speciality, you can try a house of horrors, a fun house, an exhibit featuring "a two-headed baby," a balloon-breaking booth or a girlie show.

Meet your fancy yet?

If not, there's plenty more.

Collins, a heavy-set man in work clothes, predicts a big turnout at the fair this year.

"We've been very happy at this fair," he said. "We're looking for another large turnout.

The carnival business, he points out, is like any other.

"Certain times of the year you do good business; other times you don't do so well."

Nebraska, he indicated, is usually good.

And state fair officials apparently feel the same way about Collins and his show.

Here Since 1953

This will be his 15th year at the fair. He was first contracted in 1953 and he's been asked back every year since.

With winter quarters in Bloomington, Minn., Collins takes his show across the Midwest during the fair season, hitting around 11 fairs.

And he notes, with a touch of regional pride, that his show is the only large show "in the history of carnival" to have winter quarters in the North.

The others retreat to balmier climes in the South during their off-seasons.

The fair circuit will run until about the middle of October, Collins says. After that, it's back to Bloomington.

And, after fifteen years, there's more than a good chance that he'll be back here in 1969 — touting a bigger and better show than ever before.

And it'll probably be just that.

This Year To Be Cleanest?

Officials of the 1968 Nebraska State Fair long ago announced their intention to make this year's fair the best ever.

But Fair Manager Henry Brandt also wants the '68 fair to be the state's cleanest.

Seventy-five new trash containers have been placed throughout the exhibit and midway area and Brandt urged that fairgoers use them.

Brandt noted that trash barrels have also been placed in the parking areas for those fairgoers who picnic on the grounds.

"The city has also agreed to provide street sweepers and a 'flusher' to wash down the fair streets nightly," Brandt said.

The fairgrounds has been policed with extra zeal in preparation for the '68 fair, he said.

"It's the cleanest it's ever been, and we'd like to keep it that way," Brandt urged.

Sunny Brook's Guardian promises you a smooth, mellow-tasting Bourbon.
One of Kentucky's most famous characters is the Sunny Brook Guardian. Way back in 1891, he introduced new high standards for making Bourbon. Insisted on using costlier small grains. A very special yeast strain. And then aging in hand-made barrels. He's never changed. And neither has our quality.
It's the most carefully guarded taste in Bourbon.

suburbia

Bishop Heights
Bethany Park Heights

If the end of the summer season is any indication of what the fall pace will be like, residents of Suburbia are in for quite a bit of hurry-scurry, and probably very little rest and relaxation. The past few weeks have been filled with practically every variety of activity imaginable, and it appears that there will be no letup in the very near future!

Wedding has been the password at the Ivan Hoig home in Bishop Heights, Mrs. Hoig was a hostess recently when she honored her niece, Mrs. John Yeakley, at a kitchen shower. Co-hostesses for the afternoon courtesy, which included friends of the bride and members of the family were Miss Cindy Hoig and Mrs. Gerald Baird. Mrs. Yeakley, the former Miss Carolyn Baird of Lincoln, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Baird. Mr. and Mrs. Yeakley, who were married Aug. 17, now are residing in Omaha.

Miss Cindy Hoig, who is Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Hoig's daughter, has been kept busy serving as a bridesmaid this summer. Besides being an attendant at Mrs. Yeakley's wedding, Miss Hoig was maid of honor at the wedding of the former Miss Mary Sullivan and William Kehoe of Lincoln, which took place Aug. 3 in Columbus.

And as if all the wedding activities were not enough, Mr. and Mrs. Hoig have entertained a guest Their grandson, Oliver Hoig who is all of four years old, recently spent some time with his grandparents. Oliver is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoig of Omaha.

Among those parents who temporarily have lost a son or daughter to the annual lure of the school bell are Bethany Park residents Mr. and Mrs. Russell Merrill. On Wednesday the Merrills' daughter, Corinne, left for Dallas, Tex., where she will begin her junior year in pre-med at Southern Methodist University.

Last Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Merrill were host and hostess of a buffet supper and bridge party. Included on the guest list were Mr. and Mrs. Walt Overturf, Mr. and Mrs. George Handa and Mrs. and Mrs. Ray Mathis.

Activity in Cotner Terrace earlier this week centered around Miss Donna Larson who observed her 13th birthday on Tuesday. Donna, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith E. Larson, entered the ranks of the teenager in what could be described as typical fashion considering the age — a few friends were invited to her home for a slumber party Tuesday evening.

town talk

Lincoln will be particularly interested in news from Connecticut this morning. It is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Clinton McCarty of Starks Road, Torrington, Conn., of the marriage of their daughter, Jane McCarty Pierson of Westport, Conn., to Searle T. Spangler of New York City, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Spangler of Lincoln.

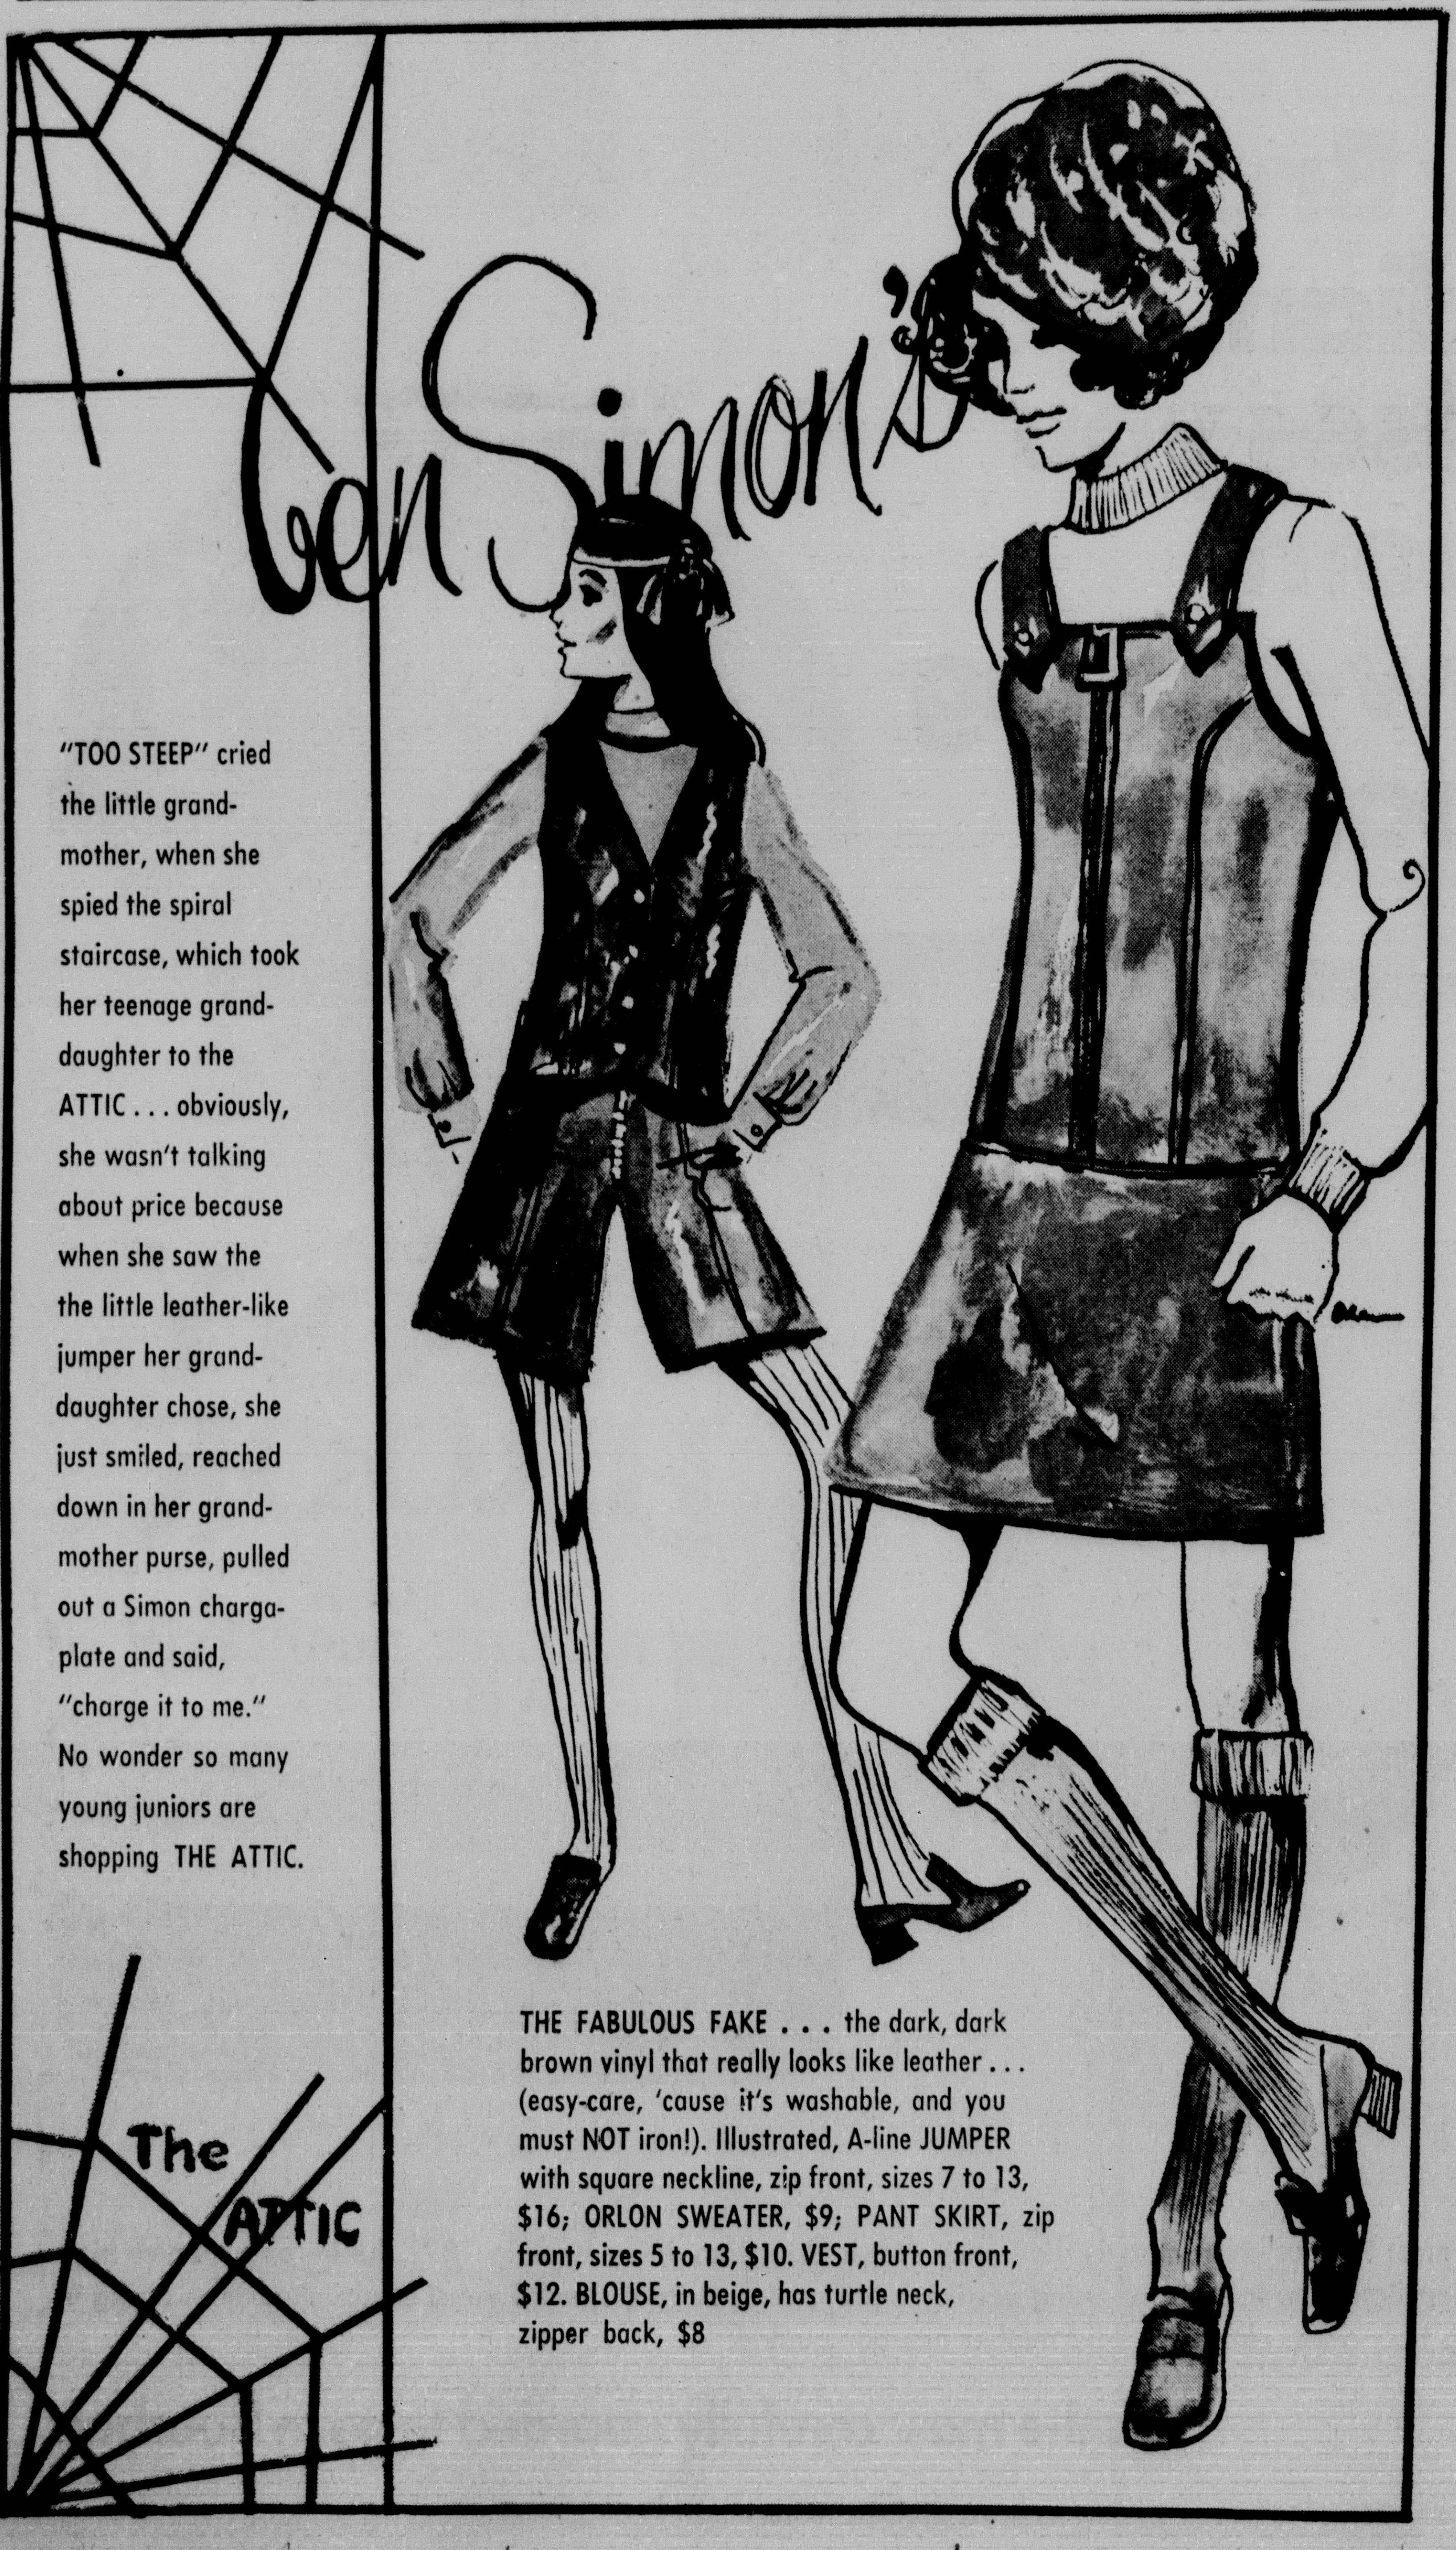
The private ceremony was solemnized on Thursday, Aug. 29, at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Ernest Bengston solemnized the service.

After Sept. 12, Mr. and Mrs. Spangler will reside at 12 Crokked Mile Rd., in Westport, Conn.

And this morning we're giving you a refresher course. If you really have been doing your homework, which means reading your ayem paper carefully, you probably know that this is the Slugfest weekend. We told you all about that several days ago.

We began wondering, however, what the wives had in mind — so, we began a Slugfest-widows roll call — We hadn't a doubt in the world but what the wives of the Slugfest participants would be doing something social on their own.

We began with Mrs. Robert Easley whose husband, naturally, is a Slugfester — but Mrs. Easley wasn't at home. We went straight down the list with the same result —no one home. But eventually we caught up with one member of the distaff side and learned that there were no social activities for the ladies prior to —or after Sunday afternoon when they will accompany their husbands to Lake Wa-Con-Da and the lakeside cottage of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallace de Brown. Now we know — Tonight (a business meeting and dinner), all day Saturday, Sunday morning and Monday — is strictly stag as far as this particular golf group is concerned.



"TOO STEEP" cried the little grandmother, when she spied the spiral staircase, which took her teenage granddaughter to the ATTIC . . . obviously, she wasn't talking about price because when she saw the the little leather-like jumper her granddaughter chose, she just smiled, reached down in her grandmother purse, pulled out a Simon chargaplate and said, "charge it to me." No wonder so many young juniors are shopping THE ATTIC.

THE FABULOUS FAKE . . . the dark, dark brown vinyl that really looks like leather . . . (easy-care, 'cause it's washable, and you must NOT iron!). Illustrated, A-line JUMPER with square neckline, zip front, sizes 7 to 13, $16; ORLON SWEATER, $9; PANT SKIRT, zip front, sizes 5 to 13, $10. VEST, button front, $12. BLOUSE, in beige, has turtle neck, zipper back, $8 now in popular CPO JACKETS from Magee's Back-To-Campus Uniworld of His & Hers.

Do-alikes can be dress-alikes in these look-alike CPO jackets . . . and what a great way "he-and-she" to be with-it at school, in the stadium or anywhere the young-clan gather this Fall. But make no mistake about it. These colorful, all-wool beauties are from our young men's Mac Shop and Stag Shop . . . but thanks to their great looks and comfort, the gals also find them terrific. Unlined . . . $15 and $18

Church Ceremony

Nosegays of summer blossoms appointed the altar of the first Presbyterian Church in Itasca, Ill., Saturday evening, Aug. 17, for the marriage of Miss Wilma Louise Downs, daughter of Mrs. Betty Burt Downs of Lincoln, and of Herbert Thomas Downs, Chicago, to Douglas Frank McKenzie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert McKenzie of Itasca. The Rev. Thomas Hinkin read the lines of the service at 8 o'clock.

The maid of honor was Miss Patricia McKenzie of Itasca, and the bridesmaids were Miss Donna Kopczynski, Franklin Park, Ill., and Miss Patricia Peterson, Dundee, Ill. Their floor-length frocks of yellow organdy were narrowly sashed in moss green velvet, and they carried bouques of white daisies.

Mitchell Gorka of Itasca, served Mr. McKenzie as best man, and seating the guests were Richard Wheichle of Chicago; Robert Weimshiem, Elmhurst, Ill.; Robert Downs and William Downs, Lincoln.

The bride's slender gown of white silk organza was covered by a floor-length coat of white lace which continued at the back into an aisle-wide train. Her tiered illusion veil was held to the head by a Dior bow of organza, and she carried a pinnacle arrangement of white roses.

Mr. McKenzie and his bride will make their home in DeKalb, Ill. Mrs. McKenzie is a student at Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, from which the bridegroom has received his degree.

August Wedding

The candlelight wedding of Miss Kristine Marie Lauber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin U. Lauber, and Ronald Lee Beckmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Beckmann, all of Seward, took place Saturday evening, Aug. 24, at St. John's Lutheran Church in Seward. The 7 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. L. W. Heidemann, and Herbert Peter, organist, played the wedding music. The vocalist was Miss Donna Beckmann, sister of the bridegroom.

Miss Jacquie Folkerts, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Diane Beckmann, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Pat Lauber, the bride's sister, wore slender frocks of silk linen in jonquil yellow.

Serving as best man was Richard Mahler of Staplehurst, and the groomsmen were Don Drickey, Spencer; Rod Michaelson, Rushville; Terry Imig and the bridegroom's brother, Roger Beckmann, Seward.

The bride appeared in a gown of white silk organza over satin designed in the cage silhouette. Cotton lace formed the high throatline and edged the brief sleeves, and the lace border touched the hem of the skirt which continued at the back into a chapel train. Her train-length veil of illusion was held by a cap of lace petals, and she carried an arrangement of yellow roses and stephanotis.

Mr. and Mrs. Beckmann, both students at the University of Nebraska, will make their home in Lincoln, at 1619 D.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I recently attended a beautiful wedding ceremony that was marred by a "practical joke" perpetrated on the bridegroom by a "close friend." This idiot had painted "SAVE ME" on the soles of the bridegroom's shoes, so when the couple knelt for prayer, it could be seen by everyone.

I felt this was very poor taste, and would appreciate your comments.

M.D.

DEAR M.D.: I agree with you. And I'm printing your letter knowing full well that it may give some other "idiots" ideas, but hoping that ALL bridegrooms will look to their soles for the work of heels.

DEAR ABBY: I'm nearly 15 years old and have a brother who is 16. This is my problem.

I have my own room with twin beds. My brother has his own room, too, but he has only a fan in his room and I have an air conditioner in mine. With the warm weather here, my brother complains that the fan doesn't help much, so he wants to sleep in my room because of the air conditioner.

I don't want him in with me because I think I'm too old to be sleeping with an older brother, and I want my privacy.

My folks say I'm silly, and I should let him use the other twin bed. I would like your opinion.

BOILING

DEAR BOILING: It would help to know whether you are a boy or a girl. If you are a girl, I don't blame you. If you are a boy, and your "privacy" is that important to you, be a man and trade rooms (for the hot spell) with your brother. (Or would you rather fight than switch?)

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of parents who go off on a vacation and leave their children with relatives, and they return on a later date than scheduled without notifying the babysitters?

TAKEN ADVANTAGE OF

DEAR TAKEN: Not much. And if you are ever again taken advantage of in this manner, remember, you asked for it.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	4 NT	Pass
5 ♥	Pass	5 ♠

Opening lead — jack of diamonds.

This remarkable deal occurred in the match between Spain and Switzerland. When Bufill and Togores held the North-South cards for Spain, the bidding went as shown.

North's two club bid was Stayman and asked South to show a four-card major if he had one. When Togores responded two spades, Bufill assumed there would be a good chance for a slam if South had three aces for his opening notrump bid.

Accordingly; he jumped to four notrump, which was Blackwood and by implication agreed on spades as trump. But South had only two aces. When he responded five hearts, North closed the bidding with five spades.

Had Besse, the Swiss West, been sufficiently inspired, he would have led the ace and another club to defeat the contract two tricks after a heart return from East. But Besse made the normal lead of a diamond and Togores had no trouble scoring twelve tricks.

The Swiss East-West pair were very concerned by the outcome, since it seemed likely that at the other table their North-South teammates would reach four spades with North as declarer, and would surely go down against the normal lead of a singleton club be East.

But, strangely enough, their fears were not realized when their teammates, Fenwick and Catzeflis, had a lucky bidding misunderstanding and inadvertently wound up playing the had at five clubs, which could not be defeated. The bidding went:

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Dble	4 ♠	Pass
5 ♣	Pass	Pass	Pass

Fenwick and Catzeflis had agreed to play transfer bids in response to one notrump, and North's four spade bid was apparently understood by South to be a transfer bid to clubs. South consequently bid five clubs, which North was only too happy to pass, and in that way the Swiss pair arrived at the only game contract that could really be made!

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

The luxury liner SS President Wilson, bound for Honolulu and exotic ports of the Orient, makes 400 sea miles each rockabye day. (Overhead the jet planes go 600-miles-per-hour, but down here on the warm blue Pacific we're in no hurry.)

This noon I won the ship's pool — 17 dollars.

I bought drinks for the house. Two cokes for my offspring.

"Lay aft and splice the main brace," I told them.

Easy come, easy go. Stewed, tattooed and signed on again.

We play the ship's pool by numbers. One to zero. Three dollars on a number. The winning number is the last digit in the ship's run, noon to noon.

The numbers on each side of the winner get $5 each.

Who gets the other $3 you ask? The worthy stewards who run the pool get it. The daily pool is the stewards' pigeon. Their goodie. A custom dating back so far it may have been the Phoenicians who started it.

Marc Antony probably laid a few denarii on the pool when he was doing the Nile with Cleopatra.

"Which number do you like, doll? I think I'll take IV today."

I am in favor of ships' pools. Especially when I've just won.

The SS President Wilson, Captain Joseph D. Cox, commanding, carrying 540 passengers. It takes a crew of 350 to run such a ship, an expensive thing at American seamen's pay and overtime.

Even so, the big Pacific ships sell cruises at rates equal to or less than resort hotel living. And they are confident that airplanes can never replace the gracious shipboard life.

It's not all as easy as that. A passenger agent told me: "Say we carry a passenger at $28 a day. We carry him 400 miles in that day, and $28 is about what he pays for 400 miles of air travel.

"In that day, we give him a night's sleep in a comfortable bed and cabin. He gets three meals.He can go to the bar. Go to the movie. Have a swim in the pool.

"He can dance in the evening. Play bridge. Draw books from the library. See the evening's entertainment — we do something different every night.

"That's a lot of action for $28. Considering the number of people traveling, it should be no problem to keep a lot of passengers on the sea.

"You see, we really don't compete with airlines. The airline is putting a hundred passengers on every hour at $28—different ones. We're putting this one passenger on for as much as 41 days.

"The idea of travel doesn't mean the same thing. The airplane passenger is going to get there. Our passenger--well, going is more fun than getting there."

True. Whether the ship makes 100 or 1000 miles a day doesn't really mean a thing. (It's the last number we're interested in, Jack.)

We spend endless blue days under endless blue skies. Passengers arrive in Honolulu pre-tanned by the Pacific sun. None of this white-skinned malahini stuff.

From the West Coast, you have one cool day. After that you are in warm sun, and it's shirts and shorts all the way.

It was "Hat Night" last night. All the passengers made hats — crepe paper and decorations and glue are free from the Purser's office.

There was a children's hat parade for children and prizes.

There was a grownups hat parade and prizes.

The band played gaily. The hats were shown. Prizes awarded. Everybody clapped—we are an enthusiastic bunch and turn on easily.

Everybody had a goodnight drink.

We went on the warm deck in the dark night. Watching the white water slide by. The sky full of stars. And went down and fell into bed.

Don't give up the ships.

Skywriters' Diary

Kansas City, Mo. — Using past experiences to fill out the Skywriters' Diary in advance this year:

FRIDAY—Big Eight officials finally got smart and set departure from Kansas City for 2 p.m. this year rather than that goshawful 7 a.m. time of the past.

It caused a Big Eight Skywriters' first because no one overslept on the opening leg, not even Oklahoma City's Volney Meece, who arrived Tuesday to get his innards in shape.

At Missouri, the first stop, you learn there are eight teams in the league with a chance to win the championship. Tiger coach Dan Devine arrives at this figure because Big Eight commissioner Wayne Duke pointed out that there are eight teams in the league.

Dan always was a good mathematician, particularly when it comes to figuring out how many points you need for a tie after scoring a touchdown to make it 14-13.

Dan's count of teams capable of winning the championship also will be two more than we'll find anywhere else in the league.

SATURDAY—Writers were a bit disappointed at Iowa State, the second stop, because, for the first time, they failed to learn who was going to win the championship.

It was always nice to stop at Iowa State after being at Missouri because here your faith in forthrightness was a bit restored by Clay Stapleton after Dandy Dan left you with doubts the day before.

Clay was the one coach in the league who would pick you a winner and he was normally right. New coach Johnny Majors refused to go along with this tradition, rightfully standing behind the excuse that he was a newcomer.

SUNDAY—No one overslept for the departure from Ames because it's very embarrassing to oversleep in Ames, Iowa, since there's no reason to stay up past 9 p.m.

Reaching Fun Spots

Today we began the two-spot stops of fun spots with Lincoln fitting that category because of Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney's jokes—most of which have nothing to do with football—and because of the entertainment youn can always count on Al Sweeney of the IMCA racing body to provide.

No one can liven up a Sunday in Lincoln like Sweeney can and writers left here not really knowing a great deal about the Husker footballers, but they had fun while not learning.

Besides, how can you think about football when Colorado is the next stop. No one overslept here either because all look forward to the Colorado stop like a four-year-old does to Christmas and whoever heard of a four-year-old oversleeping on Christmas morning.

MONDAY—Ah, beautiful Colorado where the Big Eight saves some money because you can get the same funny feeling at half the cost in this altitude.

For those whose funny bones weren't tickled enough by Devaney, there's Fred Casotti here to continue the Comedy Hour.

TUESDAY—A day off and we promised our comrades not to include any of their escapades in today's entry, lest the diary should fall into the wrong hands—like a wife's, a managing editor's or a publisher's.

Back To Work

WEDNESDAY—It's time to put the nose back to the grindstone as you head for Oklahoma where that other Big Red resides.

You're very careful not to blink your eyes here because he who blinks will have trouble locating the elusive Mr. Warmack again.

This is the only place on the tour where the assistant coaches come close to Nebraska's in freeness and looseness with the members of the press. It's here and at Nebraska where you get the feeling the assistants are really a part of the program and not just puppets on a string.

Day For Sleeping

THURSDAY—A couple of the rookies on the tour overslept this morning, but none of the veterans had that problem.

With a session coming up with Phil Cutchin at Oklahoma State today, we veterans know that that is the time to sleep because you're going to know as much when you wake up as those do who stayed awake.

Some year, Phil may not even let the writers know what the Cowboys' schedule is.

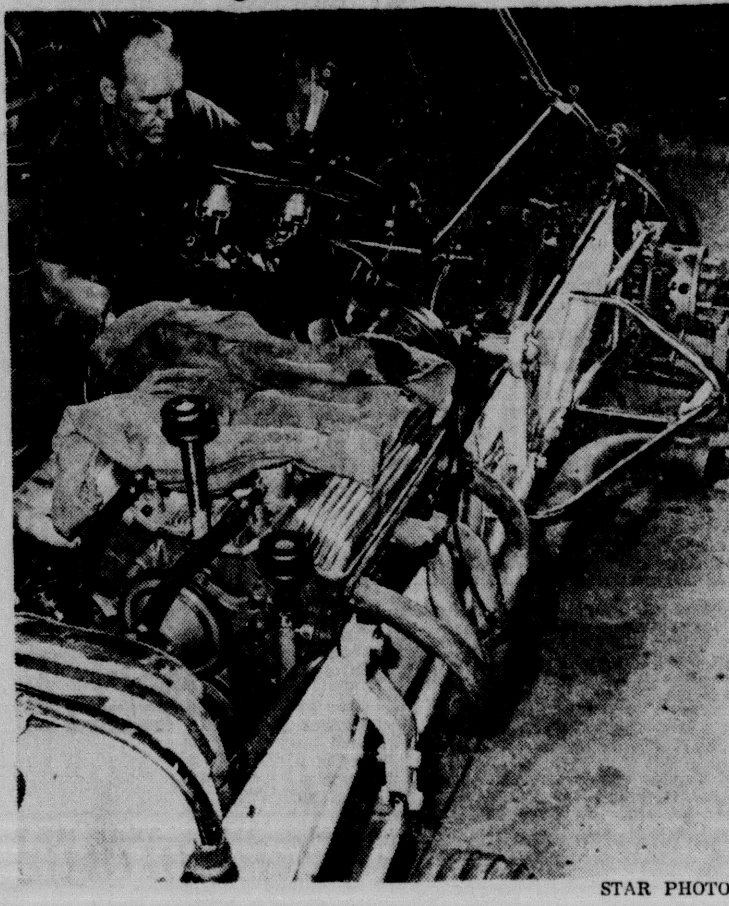
FRIDAY—It's about this time every year that writers begin wishing the league was only the Big Six because after being on the go for a full week, the enthusiasm for talking to football players and coaches begins to wane.

It used to be that a little pep talk from Doug Weaver at Kansas State would revive most fellas, but that southern drawl of Vince Gibson's tends to lull one rather than revive one.

Kansas tonight is the last stop on the tour and people tended to pay a bit more attention to Pepper's remarks this time around, especially those from Nebraska.

SATURDAY—It's over, zzzzzzzzz.

Maybe Saldana Can Wave This Time



STAR PHOTO

Star Sports Writer

If Jerry Blundy waves at Joe Saldana this weekend, Joe hopes it won't be under the same circumstances that inspired the gesture last Sunday.

That was when Blundy went sailing by Lincoln's popular little Joe in the 50-mile sprint car feature at the Missouri State Fair at Sedalia.

Both drivers will be entered in the Nebraska State Fair sprint car races scheduled for Saturday, Sunday and Monday, under the sponsorship of the International Motor Contest Association (IMCA).

Joe tells the Missouri story this way:

"Gordon Woolley took the lead early in the race, then I led for about 10 laps, then Blundy went past me coming off number two and took his right hand off the steering wheel and waved to me. And that's the honest truth!" Joe added.

For the young Lincolnite, a second place finish to a veteran like Blundy, the Galesburgh, Ill., native, isn't the most painful thing to endure, especially if your conqueror is running as well as Blundy was that day.

"'Blundy was running so good there was no comparison between him and myself," Joe said. "After running with the Blundy, it sure makes you wonder."

But Little Joe is quick to admit that it's hard to label any one man the favorite in an IMCA event, and he hopes to be in the running this weekend.

"In IMCA races, all those guys are tough," Joe says.

But, barring unexpected troubles, Joe's Du Teau Chevy racer could be right in the thick of it along with fellow Lincolnite Lloyd Beckman. Other area drivers vying for IMCA honors this weekend will be Ashland's Keith Hightshoe, Kearney's Eddie Leavitt and Lincolnite Chuck Kidwell.

Saldana, in addition to his second-place finish in the Missouri feature event, was second fastest in the time trials, first in the match race between the six fastest qualifiers, and fourth in an inverted-start heat race.

And all of this was just one day after some less successful exploits at the Iowa State Fair in Des Moines last Saturday.

There he was the fourth fastest qualifier and ran fourth in a heat race before breaking a stabilizing bar and cutting a tire in the feature event.

Joe, who hopes to make the USAC circuit some day, is eager for the opportunity to face more IMCA competition and plans to enter other IMCA events after the State Fair.

Before he ever reaches the USAC circuit, Joe realizes he'll need more experience and he says the IMCA is the place to get it. "Al Sweeney (head of the IMCA organization) has put more guys into USAC than any guy I can think of," Joe said.

As for his prospects this weekend, Joe is hoping for the best, but admits, "If the car will load up on the trailer and I'm left in one piece, I'd be happy. If you do that, you've already made some money."

TIGERS SHUT OUT ANGELS

Orioles Lose 5-4, Six Back

. . . NATS WIN IN 11TH

By Associated Press

Willie Horton's 31st home run and the three-hit pitching of left-hander Mickey Lolich paced the league-leading Detroit Tigers to a 2-0 victory over the California Angels Thursday.

Rookie Gary Holman, who entered the game in the eighth inning as a pinch hitter, cracked a two-out, run-scoring single in the 11th inning, sending Washington to a 5-4 victory over Baltimore.

The loss dropped the Orioles six games behind Detroit.

Horton hit his 31st home run leading off the fourth inning and drove in a run with an infield hit in the eighth, while Lolich, 13-8, pitched a three-hitter, walked only one and struck out 12.

Bernie Allen set up the Washington run with a one-out double off Eddie Watt, 4-5, and Holman connected after Tim Cullen struck out.

Brooks Robinson, who doubled in two fourth inning runs, lifted the Orioles into a tie in the eighth with a two-out, run-scoring single.

Don Buford, whose sacrifice fly in the fifth put Baltimore ahead 30, singled, moved to second on a sacrifice and went to third on Boog Powell's infield hit before Robinson's hit.

Reggie Smith's first grand slam home run in the majors and a pair of homers by Joe Foy propeled Boston past Oakland 11-2. Smith finished with five RBI and Foy with three.

Houston knocked ace right-hander Juan Marichal from the mound after 1 2-3 innings — the earliest departure of his career — and went on to a 6-1 victory over San Francisco.

Denis Menke hit a three-run homer off Marichal, 23-7, in the first inning, and three singles, a squeeze bent and three San Francisco errors gave Houston three more runs in the second.

In other AL action, Minnesota beat Cleveland 4-3 and the Chicago White Sox edged the Yankees, 1-0. In the National, Atlanta downed Philadelphia, 6-0, St. Louis blanked Pittsburgh, 5-0, and the New York Mets tumbled Cincinnati 2-0.

LARRY SHEPARD

Shepard Receives '69 Contract

Pittsburgh (AP) — Larry Shepard, saying his first season as a major league manager has been his most disappointing year in baseball, was given another one-year contract by the Pittsburgh Pirates Thursday.

It was the best vote of confidence a second division manager could get, and Shepard acknowledged it by saying he looked forward to 1969 more than he has to any other season.

"Maybe it's because of the disappointments of this year and maybe because we know more about what we have now," Shepard said.

"But we've got some good help in the minors that can strengthen us."

He said he "really" believed the sixth-place Pirates could become a contender.

Shepard's rehiring actually came as little surprise. Even though the Pirates have spent all season in the second division, they have been riddled by a series of injuries that struck almost every regular.

General manaager Joe L. Brown, who announced Shepard's new contract, said he blamed injuries — and only injuries — for the club's poor showing.

Omaha Loses Series Game

Manchester, N.H. (AP) — Timmonsville, S.C., Memphis, Tenn., and Klamath Falls, Ore, posted first round victories Thursday in opening games of the American Legion World Series.

Timmonsville capitalized on eight errors for four unearned runs in defeating Omaha, Neb., 7-1 behind the six-hit pitching of Ronnie Young.

Southpaw Don Castle fired a two-hitter and struck out eight as Memphis blanked South Bend, Ind., 3-0 in the first game in the morning. In the second game, Klamath Falls' Mike Keck breezed to a 9-2 victory over Tucson, Ariz.

Young, a slender right-hander, struck out three and walked four, but managed to escape serious trouble. Jim Jacobson gave up two Omaha runs before being relieved by Bob Laird in the fifth.

Timmonsville will play the winner of the Staten Island, N.Y. nad East Springfield, Mass., game. Omaha will meet the loser.

'Shaggy' Ray Moore Upsets Pro Gimeno At Forest Hills

. . . BILLIE JEAN, OTHER SEEDS WIN

Forest Hills, N.Y. (AP) — A self-described hippie from South Africa and a young stylist from Hawaii put a pair of big holes in the pro ranks as the first U.S. Open Tennis Championships opened Thursday at the West Side Tennis Club.

Ray Moore, South African Davis Cup ace known as "Wolf Man" because of his shaggy blonde mane and mustache, repeated his Wimbledon triumph over 10th seeded Andres Gimeno of Spain 4-6, 6-1, 6-2, 6-1.

Then Jim Osborne, 23, taught the game by his mother in Honolulu, proved too flashy and energetic for big, hard-hitting Barry MacKay 8-6, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Gimeno, 30, is a member of George MacCall's touring national tennis league. MacKay was ace of the U.S. Davis Cup team in 1956 and 1957 before turning pro to tour with Jack Kramer's troupe. He has been inactive the last few years.

BILLIE JEAN KING

The first round setbacks, before a crowd of 7,000, do not portend an amateur uprising since the two top-seeded Australians, Rod Laver and Tony Roche, who are pros, make their debut today.

Laver, winner at Wimbledon, is the heavy favorite but strong competition is expected from Australian Ken Rosewall and left-handed Roche before the $14,000 first prize check is distributed Sept. 8.

Neither Gimeno nor the 31-year-old MacKay, from Dayton, Ohio, were anywhere near the players who led their teams in Davis Cup wars a decade ago.

"Andres was nervous — I could tell," said Moore. "Tennis is more mind than strokes. I thought our match at Wimbledon was better."

MacKay's once explosive service was just a pop-gun against Osborne. The big Ohioan was cumbersome and slow on the courts.

Other favorites swept through opening tests in clear, cool weather before a crowd of about 7,000.

Mrs. Billie Jean King, two-time Wimbledon winner and undisputed court queen, needed only 30 minutes to breeze past Vija Vuskalns of Port Washington, N.Y., a 29-year-old dentist, 6-1, 6-0. Fourth seeded Maria Bueno of Brazil smashed Stephanie Grant of Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-1, 6-4.

Third-seeded Ken Rosewall of Australia was the highest men's seed to see action and his rifle-like backhand was too much for Jim Parker of St. Louis, 25-year-old champion of the Missouri Valley, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

—LA COACH PROMOTED—

Gomez Named Padres' Pilot

Los Angeles (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers disclosed Thursday that one of their veteran coaches, Preston Gomez, has been named manager of the new San Diego Padres of the National League.

Apparently jumping the gun on a formal announcement from the San Diego Club itself, whose president, E. J. "Buzzie" Bavasi, was the Dodger general manager, a statement released here said:

"The Dodgers are, of course, sorry to lose the services of a coach as capable as Preston Gomez. However, we have encouraged him to accept a promotion and wish him well.

"Gomez has been a dedicated baseball man and valuable to the Dodger organization. San Diego has chosen wisely in picking him to lead their club.

"There will be no addition to the Dodgers coaching staff as all of our farm clubs are in pennant races. Danny Ozark will be assigned to the third base coaching duties by manager Walter Alston for the series in San Francisco this weekend."

In San Diego, the Padres called a press conference for this afternoon at which time the appointment of Gomez was to be formally announced.

Gomez, 45, played only eight games in the major leagues — for Washington as an infielder in 1944 —and spent the rest of his career in the minors.

Rain-Hampered NU Contact Reveals An Improved Defense

By KENT SAVERY
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska Coach Bob Devaney sent his Husker football candidates through their first workout in pads Thursday morning, and indicated the defense was putting on a lot of pressure in the rain-hampered contact session.

The Husker coach said the pass protection appeared to be improved, but several defensive players caught Devaney's eye.

"Burdic (Mike), Walline (Dave) and Geddes (Kent) helped us with some good defensive play this morning," Devaney said.

Passing received the most attention in themorning session, but the Husker coach said a few running plays were also mixed in.

There was little contact in the afternoon session, which was devoted primarily to work on the kicking game.

"The kicking was not real consistent," Devaney said, while noting that Joe Armstrong is ahead in the punting department, while Dan Schneiss and Dana Stephenson loom about even.

"Paul Rogers appears to be the best place kicker and kickoff man," Devaney said.

Devaney said halfbacks Joe Orduna and Mike Green were switched around some, with Orduna working part time as a flanker.

Buster Yannon, who was switched from fullback to halfback this season caught Devaney's eye, along with end Rex Lowe.

"Yannon looked pretty good at left halfback," the Husker coach said. "And Rex Lowe made a couple of pretty good catches.

Jim Hawkins, who sprained a knee earlier in the week, was held out of contact, while Frank Vactor hurt an ankle in the morning session.

The Huskers will practice twice today and Saturday with the first scrimmage tentatively scheduled for Sunday's solo session at 2 p.m.

Softball Champs Eye Meet

. . . ROBERTS-SKYLINE IN REGIONAL TOURNAMENT IN IOWA

By JOHN HINES
Star Sports Writer

Pitching and defense carried Roberts-Skyline Dairy of Lincoln to the Nebraska State softball title and manager Jack Krumm figures that's what will propel one of nine teams to the title when the Capital City team treks to Cedar Rapids, Iowa, this weekend for the Mid-Central regional tournament.

The winner of that four-day, double-elimination meet then qualifies for the American Softball Association national championships in Oklahoma City Sept. 7-8.

Roberts-Skyline plays its first game at Cedar Rapids against the Kansas City metropolitan champions at 12:30 Saturday. If they win the dairymen come back at 7:30 Saturday night. If they lose they play at 6 p.m. the same day.

Other clubs in the tourney which extends through next Monday include the defending champion Wichita Boosters; the St. Louis and Omaha metro kings; state champs from Iowa, Missouri and Kansas, and the host team.

Krumm will take a 13-man traveling squad to Iowa: pitchers John Jackson, Paul Ude and Ben Wright; catchers Dennis Flachman and Joe Votava; Stan Kaltenberger (1b); Steve Butts and Clair Marshall (2b); Gary Smith (ss); Rich Luft (3b); Don White (lf); Roger Kaltenberger (cf), and Buzz Truax (rf).

Bill Honnor, who played left field for Roberts-Skyline in the state tourney, will not be able to make the trip because of job commitments, but White, who broke his arm early in June sliding into a base in a game in Omaha, is back in the lineup for the first time since that accident.

Wright, who pitched for the Spigot in the city league, is the only "pickup" player on the team now that Honnor, who performed for Bud Burmood's, is unable to go. Ben won two games in the state tourney, including a 1-0 clutch job over Scottsbluff in the finals.

Roberts-Skyline won state tourney contests by 3-1, 5-0 and 2-1 before splitting 1-0 games against Scottsbluff. The other team really has to earn it when they score a run against the dairymen.

In addition, Krumm's club performed the rare feat of a "triple sweep," winning city, district and state titles. Three different teams won those three crowns last year. Roberts has also played in other pressure games during a 55-15 season, winning three of five in the tough St. Joseph, Mo., meet early this summer and testing top Omaha and out-state competition.

"Our hitting will have to pick up," Krumm warned, though. "We were hitting real good until the state, when we went into a pretty bad slump. But we won 20-3 the other night (against Burmood's) so those guys could break loose at any time. If they can start hitting in the tourney we hope we can represent the state well."

Jackson has been transferred by his railroad employers to Hannibal, Mo., but comes back to Lincoln on weekends. He won a two-hit shutout in the state meet on one "furlough." He will move his family down to Hannibal permanently in about a month.

McNally-Hiller Faceoff Spices TV Showdown

. . . AL SUPREMACY ON THE LINE

Detroit (AP) — Buoyed by the return to the line-up of second baseman Dick McAuliffe plus the return to winning ways of ace pitcher Denny McLain, leading Detroit takes on runner-up Baltimore Friday night in the opener of the most crucial series of the American League season.

The Tigers, though, will be going up against the majors' hottest pitcher, Dave McNally, in the second game of the three-game set.

Friday night's pithcers are Tom Phoebus, 13-12, for Baltimore and Earl Wilson, 11-11, for Detroit.

On Saturday, McNally will face John Hiller 6-4, while Sunday's pithcers are expected to be McLain for the Tigers and Jim Hardin, 17 9, for the Orioles. McLain recorded his 26th victory Wednesday night after being beaten in his previous two starts.

McNally, a southpaw, has won nine consecutive games since the All Star break for a season's mark of 17-8. He has posted three shutouts and a 1.72 earned run average since the midseason classic.

Saturday's game will be televised by NBC on its Game of The Week, starting at 1 p.m., CDT. Baltimore and Detroit will be blacked out of the national telecast.

McAuliffe, a key man for the Tigers who are seeking to win their first pennant in 23 years, played for the first time in seven days Wednesday night. He was suspended for five days last Friday by AL president Joe Cronin for being the aggressor in a fight with ptcher Tommy John of the White Sox.

McAuliffe went hitless in his comeback game, failing in three trips as the Tigers beat California 6-1 behind McLain's six-hitter.

"Offesnively, my timing was way off," the second baseman said. "The ball was on top of me before I knew it." He added that he was rested physically, but not emotionally. The Tigers lost five of six games during his absence.

McNally, during his 9-0 streak, defeated the Tigers twice, 5-3 on July 20 and 5-1 eight days later. His season record against Detroit is 2-2. Wilson's 1968 mark against the Orioles is 3-1.

The team shave split the 12 games between them this year. They meet in the fianl series at Baltimore, Sept. 23, 24 and 25. The season ends on the 29th.

—BOALS LOST—

Wesleyan Gridders To Work Saturday

Nebraska Wesleyan football coach Ray Westover is hoping to find the answers to a lot of questions Saturday morning.

At 7 a.m. that day the veteran Plainsmen menter will send his charges through their first controlled scrimmage of the year.

Westover is starting his 10th year at the NWU helm which makes him the dean of Wesleyan football coaches since the first pigskin was ever used at the school.

And at the pesent time it would appear that Wesleyan cannot afford a single injury without it hurting the outlook at that position considerably.

The Plainsmen suffered their first blow of the season Thursday when end Rich Boals was declared out for the year. Boals, a three-sport star sophomore from Sutton, has a serious hernia problem.

According to the two-deep lineups revealed by Westover and assistant Harold Chaffee it appears that some boys will see two-way duty and also that a lot of young players must produce if Wesleyan is to enjoy its sixth consecutive winning season.

The Plainsmen open their 1968 campaign on Sept. 14 with a road trip to Simpson College at Indianola, Iowa. This is the only new pace on the NWU slate and the Redmen recorded a 7-1-1 mark last year.

Coach Enters Hastings Meet

Hastings — Labron Harris Sr., who has coached Oklahoma State to the Big Eight golf title every year from 1958 through 1967, has notified Lochland Country Club pro Bud Williamson Jr. that he will compete in the pro division of the KHAS-TV—Lochland Country Club Indian Summer Open here Sept. 28-29.

Harries' domination of Big Eight golf was ended last spring by Colorado, but he gained some measure of satisfaction when Grier Jones won the NCAA title for him.

Harris plays in an occasional tour event and has placed a number of players on the pro tour, including the late Bo Wininger, Bob Dickson, Dave Eichelberger and his son, Labron Jr., who lost a playoff to Bob Murphy Sunday in the Philadelphia Classic.

"We expect Labron to bring some of his top golfers from Oklahoma State up to compete in the amateur division," Williamson said Thursday.

Jim Shade of Norfolk is a sophomore at Oklahoma State and Jim Brownfield of Cozad is enrolling at Oklahoma State this fall.

A briefing session for the participants will be held this noon and then the group will depart for Missouri, beginning the trip which will conclude here on Sept. 7.

The itinerary includes at least one practice, plus interview sessions with coaches and players, at each of the schools.

Brown's daily series on the camps will begin Monday.

Norfolk's Shade Just Makes Cut

Columbus, Ohio (AP) —James Shade of Norfolk dropped 11 strokes behind the leaders Thursday after 36 holes in the 68th U.S. Amateur Golf Championship at the par 70 Scioto Country Club.

Shade trailed by only five strokes Wednesday but fell farther behind with a 76-78—154 for the 36 holes. Shade still led Bob Astleford of Omaha, who was 16 strokes behind with a 83-76—195.

Bruce Fleisher, a junior college student from Hialeah, Fla., and Hubie Green, the young amateur champion from Alabama, snared the second round lead by one stroke.

Shade's 154 just made the cut for the final rounds today and Saturday. The low 62 players were allowed in.

Tokyo (AP) — Pedro Adigue, 145½, of The Philippines, knocked out Benkei Fujikura, 147, of Japan, in 2:49 of the second round of a 10-round main bout Thursday night.

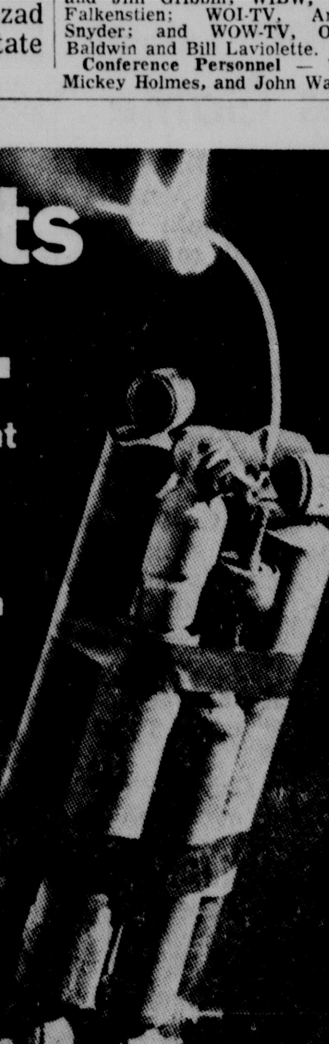
Sagging-fronts are dynamite.



If your car is carrying a heavy load up front (larger engine, more power equipment, air conditioning), chances are it's got tired springs, light-control shock absorbers—and front-end sag. And that's like riding on dynamite. ☐ Monroe front Load-Leveler® stabilizing units help keep your car's front end up and level—you in control. They cut down tire wear and front-end repairs. Help keep your wheels aligned. ☐ Get your Monroe front Load-Levelers wherever you see the Monroe wings. And you'll keep up a safe front.

This is Volkswagen's idea for a sports car.

It will have an air-cooled engine in back. Like the Porsches that swept the Daytona 24-hour endurance grind.

It will corner like a sports car. Have a 4-speed synchronized gear box like a sports car. And the body will be designed by men who design sports cars for a living.

But it will go easy on gas. Like a Volkswagen. And be as easy to service as a VW.

Will we ever get a car like this off the drawing board?

We already have.

Volkswagen Karmann Ghia

The Karmann Ghia is at our showroom now for $2398.

If you didn't recognize it, maybe it's because you never saw the Ghia quite this way before.

Maybe you should look again.

Black Power Implementation Stressed

Philadelphia (UPI) — A leader of the third National Black Power Conference which opened here Thursday said implementing black power "is the most important work in the world"

Wearing a colorful African robe over his streetclothes, the Rev. Dr. Nathan Wright of Newark, N.J., told a group of white reporters at a street corner news conference that the white society will not survive unless blacks become a part of society.

Wright talked briefly with the reporters after leaving a news conference for black newsmen who were briefed on the gathering which has brought together representatives of 600 organizations, some of them the most militant in the nation.

'Theological Concept'

"The mind would have to be psychotic to think black power anything but positive," he said. It is "the most sociological, theological, philosophical concept in history."

Black power brings into focus "our identity, our unique and glorious blackness," Wright said, and "answers for what purpose we were created."

He said white newsmen were barred from the conference because white newspapers printed distorted stories of last year's gathering in Newark, and because the news media has not hired enough blacks.

'Unity' Sought

The ban on whites is "an excellent opportunity" to force the news media to hire more black reporters and photographers, he said.

Ron Karenga, militant from the Watts section of Los Angeles, said delegates to the conference were "searching for unity without exact conformity."

"We are a peaceful people," he said.

Karenga, accompanied by three men who appeared to be bodyguards, said black power advocates now wanted to develop methods of putting into practice the theories discussed at the last two annual conferences.

The stated aim of the conference is to examine the means of implementing black power for the good of the black community.

Guatemala Imposes Modified Martial Law

Guatemala City (UPI) — The government Thursday imposed modified martial law on Guatemala in the wake of the slaying by Communist terrorists of U.S. Ambassador John Gordon Mein.

Mein, 54, of Cadiz, Ky., was gunned down by submachine gun fire Wednesday attempting to flee a band of men who forced his car off the street three blocks from his embassy and sought to kidnap him.

He was the third prominent American to be assassinated in Guatemala by terrorists this year and the United States government requested an immediate investigation into the murder. The Guatemalan government's imposition of a 30-day "state of siege" — suspending constitutional limits on search and seizure — followed.

President Julio Cesar Mendez Montenegro expressed the government's official regrets at the slaying of Mein who, he said, had won the affection of Guatemalans since his arrival in the country in 1965. The president ordered the Guatelmalan flag lowered to half-staff on all government buildings for the next three days as a mark of respect.

Mendez Montenegro told UPI that Mein had been assassinated by extreme leftists. In Washington, State Department officials said Mein and other American officials in Guatemala had been warned of plots to assassinate them hatched by the underground Communist-led Revolutionary Armed Forces (FAR).

U.S. Satisfied With Guatemala

Washington (UPI) — The State Department said Thursday the United States was satisfied with Guatemala's cooperation in the investigation into the slaying of Ambassador John Gordon Mein in Guatemala City.

Department spokesman Carl Bartch said the murder of the American diplomat Wednesday evening has caused "no change in our relations" with the government of Guatemala.

At a news briefing he explained that Guatemalan authorities have launched an investigation into the machine-gunning of Mein "as we had asked" and have imposed a state of seige throughout the central American nation.

Later in the day, Bartch said Guatemalan authorities have located a taxicab that may have been used as a getaway car and have detained the driver.

Soviets, Allies Each Confine Liaison Men

New York Times Service

Berlin — The confinement of three western allied military liaison groups to their quarters in Potsdam, East Germany, since last week's Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia has brought a similar restriction on Soviet officers accredited to the United States Army in Frankfurt, West Germany, it was disclosed Thursday.

The British, American, French and Soviet armies have had military liaison missions attached to each other's headquarters in Germany since World War II.

A spokesman at U.S. Army headquarters in Heidelberg confirmed Thursday that the Soviet mission in Frankfurt was restricted to its quarters in retaliation to the confinement of the American group in Potsdam.

The spokesman said the Potsdam group had been confined periodically during the last few months while the Warsaw Pact built up its forces along the Czechoslovak frontier in preparation for the invasion.

U.S., N. Korea Discuss Pueblo

Washington (AP) — The United States and North Korea have held another meeting — their 20th — on the case of the USS Pueblo, with no apparent results.

The meeting, at Panmunjom in Korea, was held Thursday and lasted 107 minutes, the State Department said.

The United States wants to negotiate the release of the intelligence ship and its 82-man crew, captured by the North Koreans Jan. 23.

Wesleyan Faculty Urged To 'Correct Vision'

. . . TO UNDERSTAND TODAY'S STUDENTS

A suggestion that "we may have to correct our vision" if faculty are to understand today's students was made at Nebraska Wesleyan University's faculty conference Thursday.

Dr. Milton Evans, dean of students and leader of a faculty-student panel on student activism, said the "campus picture may be out of focus for some of us who expect to see students doing things as they did in the past.

"Too many of us expect all the correction of things we don't understand to come from the students. Surely, students need to change, but so to do many of us need to correct our vision of events."

Prof. Glenn Bush of the sociology department said, "A new age group has emerged and isn't going away. Youth are troubled and are troublesome."

He noted that students are aware of the decision-making process and colleges can't respond as in the past and assume that students are to be treated as irresponsible adolescents.

Prof. Gene Swinton, a phsychology department staff member, urged faculty members to seek to channel energy of students into appropriate directions. "Faculty need to relate to the individual students by understanding them, communicating with them and assisting them," he said.

Prof. Nettie Clark, a member of the education department paraphrased a statement by the late President John F. Kennedy, noting that "if we make peaceful change impossible, we make violent change inevitable." As faculty, she said, this should be our objective, to make peaceful change possible.

Judy Trimble, a Gothenburg coed said, "Students are increasingly aware of what's going on. We want to be challenged, we want academic integrity in the faculty, we want adequate facilities and a culturally-stimulating environment."

"We want to be left on our own when off-campus, we want less pressure for grades," she said.

NWU Faculty Urged To Develop 'A Strong Sense Of Community'

Nebraska Wesleyan University faculty members were urged Thursday to develop a strong sense of community during the coming year

President Vance D. Rogers told the faculty at a banquet concluding a faculty conference, that as they develop cooperative and working relationships with students, board members and administrative members, they should determine their objectives with the good of the college in mind.

Dr. Rogers noted that the past few years, he has permitted within the departments, the concept of empire building in order to develop strong programs and a quality faculty.

By considering the total institution, we can do what is best to develop the quality liberal arts program that is most beneficial for our students and best serves the community, Dr. Rogers stated.

Key to this sense of community, Dr. Rogers said, is greater faculty attention to student needs, both for those who are academically-gifted and those of average ability.

"Above all, we must have a keen awareness of the needs of the underprivileged non-white American," Dr. Rogers said, noting that Nebraska Wesleyan is developing programs in this area.

Construction Company Sues NU Regents

A suit against the University of Nebraska Board of Regents claiming damages totaling $211,463.86 was filed in Lancaster District Court Thursday by Kingery Construction Co. in connection with construction of dormitory and food service buildings.

The plaintiff firm contends that on May 18, 1966, it entered into an agreement with the University to construct three 10-story dormitory buildings and a two-story food service building and that it relied upon general conditions of the contract including certain modifications furnished by the defendants.

Kingery contends that the conditions contained misleading and faulty information and agents of the defendant misinterpreted the plans and specifications and made unreasonable demands upon the plaintiff and its subcontractor.

According to the petition, the demands and misinterpretations were in excess of the requirements of the plans and specifications to the plaintiff and subcontractor's to the extent of $211,463.86.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Student Plans To Finance College With Stock Profits

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

MERRYLE RUKEYSER

Youngsters Differ

Despite the ballyhoo about the "generation gap," mature Americans should avoid putting all young people in a single category.

While some youngsters at high school are experimenting with "pot," a reader in Rochester, N.Y., a 17-year-old secondary school student, writes me about his adventures in accumulating college tuition funds through buying and selling stocks.

He states: "I plan to work during the next school year and next summer to provide the money for college tuition, which my father thinks I should pay. I agree that working for your education will have many benefits. I hope to increase the $1,500 which I now have by next June to $2,000."

The young man then described his market exploits. His procedure was to consult a broker and then make an independent check. After he is interested in a stock, he asks for an analysis of the technical position. Having done well in high risk penny stocks, he is now seeking shares of companies with stature. He adds: "I plan to continue this aggressive investment policy of trading when a profit can be had and holding on when the stock's long range looks good."

Immediate Goal

No one feels like arguing with success. However, the young man's immediate goal is not long term investment, but to have cash on the barrel head for a hungry university bursar in September 1969.

In the event of an intermediate market break, the young student won't be able to invoke the rescue rule of the 1930's which the state insurance commissioners used to keep the institutions nominally solvent through the device of valuing securities at arbitrary convention prices instead of depressed market prices.

With interest rates still high, the young man can prepare for his near-term cash needs by buying short term government obligations, prime commercial paper, certificates of deposit in a bank, or opening a simple savings deposit account.

Short Term Only

But this suggestion is for the short term. Selection of risks for a long term investment is another matter.

This exceptional youth doesn't need an outsider to tell him which enterprises show an exceptional propensity for growth. The market operator must also decide whether prevailing market quotations have discounted the visible benefits. Even the best adviser necessarily acts for the "account and risk" of the client.

Q. — At the other end of the age spectrum, a Fairlawn, N.N. reader, on the verge of retirement, expects to live on the proceeds of the sale of his home for $30,000 after acquiring a modest home in the South. He is hanging his hopes on a mutual fund withdrawal plan. He adds: "I realize that my capital would be depleated if stocks fell. I plan to invest in no-load funds or perhaps First Multifund of America and to retain $10,000 in a savings bank."

A. — In an uncertain world, perhaps the biggest dogmatist is the financial salesman. Back in 1930 a life insurance underwriter sold a client a so-called modified five life insurance policy, with a low term insurance rate for the first five years. In the sixth year the contract was automatically converted to a straight life policy at a substantially higher rate. The agent unofficially held out the hope that increased dividends at the sixth year would absorb most of the increase in rates. But with the depression, dividends in fact were cut, not increased.

This reader seems confused. His $30,000 fund can legitimately be expected to yield around $1,500 a year. If he is at retirement age, doesn't he expect Social Security benefits?

If he intends to draw on principal, he ought to consider an annuity contract. It will become legal this autumn for New York-based life insurance companies to sell inflation-hedged variable annuities to individuals. Thus, while the prices of securities in the portfolio will fluctuate, the insurance company assumes the survival risk and will continue payments of varying amounts through the entire life of the annuitant.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self addressed envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Stock Exchanges Plan To Continue Four-Day Weeks

New York (AP)— The New York and American stock exchanges said Friday they planned to continue their four-day trading weeks through September.

The governing boards of the two exchanges, in voting the continuation, said it was subject to change based on conditions.

The chairman and president of the National Association of Securities Dealers endorsed similar action for the over-the-counter market, but this must be approved by the NASD's executive committee.

The purpose is to catch up on back-logged paperwork.

Iowans Shortchanged

Des Moines (UPI) — A total of 4,242 Iowans were shortchanged more than $1 million during a 12-month period because of violations of federal wage and hour laws, a Department of Labor official said.

Germans Emigrate

Bonn, Germany (AP) — More than 100,000 Germans have emigrated to Australia since 1945, the new Australian ambassador to Bonn, Sir Edward R. Walker, noted at the ceremonial presentation of his credentials.

Analyst Says Thoughtful Demos Ultimate Victims Of Convention

New York Times Service

Chicago — The ultimate victims of this brutalizing convention were the Democrats who thought Thursday morning that they ought to be thoughtful about what had happened to them here.

There was the faithful member of President Johnson's sub-cabinet fighting down what he called the "immoral" thought that it would be best if Richard Nixon were elected in November.

He could not fight very well while sniffing the stench of the stink bombs in the Conrad Hilton Hotel lobby.

There was the lifelong Tennessee Democrat declaiming over a post-convention coffee that George Wallace was, after all, the only hope for law and order.

'Aged Bitterness'

There was Arthur Miller, the delegate-playwright from Connecticut, who couldn't get his mind off that "aged bitterness on the platform" leading a majority in "hatred for the young."

And there were the young, with blank white buttons and armbands of black hating no one through their tears.

There was at least half the convention hall Thursday night rhythmically pounding out its defiance of the chair and everything on the rostrum of this party as it sang and sang and sang the Battle Hymn of the Republic in unmistakable insistence that Robert F. Kennedy's leadership was the kind they wanted.

McCarthy himself made the only sustained effort at analysis and he produced questions rather than answers.

Think Again

In asking his supporters to keep the faith and to keep raising the important issues in congressional elections, he urged them also to think again whether they really wanted the political parties that Thomas Jefferson had added to the American system and whether they really wanted the political parties that Thomas Jefferson had added to the American system and whether they eally wanted the political conventions that Andrew Jackson had added to the party system.

Perhaps, McCarthy mused, the party ought henceforth to nominate by absentee ballot and let the mayor of Chicago count the ballots. It was the kindest thrust of the hundreds hurled at Mayor Richard J. Daley by Democrats who just a short time ago were competing for his favor.

But then even McCarthy gave in to sentiment and sensibility and walked out of the hotel into Grant Park to offer symbolic tribute to the maimed and dispirited demonstrators of this convention.

Little Left

With the Kennedy men almost hoping for a Democratic defeat so that they can rebuild the party to their specifications, with the Wallace fans feeling justified now in their desertion with the McCarthy army dispersing to the political battles on the home front with Mayor Daley and his police force being denied even a last hurrah in the party they had so often counted into victory and with Johnson forced into seclusion on his Texas ranch, there was precious little left of this convention to think about.

Left behind, of course, are many thoughtful or at least calculating Democrats who come away from this convention determined to save their political hides and dreams of the future.

Several hundred Negro delegates were cheered to find black men moving into the seats of Southern racists and Northern VIPs.

Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh and his fragmented California Democrats found unexpected unity and purpose in the convention battles against the party power brokers.

And the large minority that tried to disassociate the party from administration policy on Vietnam found comfort in the demonstration that there was more to dissent than a bunch of hippies, radicals or even just McCarthy fans.

Inability To Coalesce

The one great value of the party convention was always said to be its ability to reconcile the irreconcilable and thus to enlist in a unified effort every four years the 50 different state organizations that otherwise barely share a single name. This value was always held to justify the tedium and noise and unseemly maneuvering that attended the selection of a presidential candidate and gave him an opportunity to forge a winning coalition.

But after 35 years of majority status, the Democrats finally confessed their inability to coalesce.

It was because it had been so spectacularly successful that so many aspiring and dissenting Americans had looked to the Democratic Party for comfort and leadership. But because it had become so many things to so many people, the party could no longer accommodate so much conflicting passion.

That discovery has been a blow more severe than any inflicted by Chicago's free-swinging police and the Democrats were in no shape Thursday to think about its consequences and implications.

Germans Plan Climb As Nepal Lifts 1964 Ban

New York Times Service

Dispatch of The Times, London

Katmandu — After four years of a ban on mountaineering, the climbing season in Nepal begins next spring with an attempt on Annapurna Peak, 26,545 feet high, by the German Alpine Club.

Several teams from Britain, Italy, the United States and Japan are likely to attempt climbs next year — among other peaks Dhaulagiri 1 and 2.

Nepal's ban to mountaineering imposed in 1964 was lifted on Aug. 19, but restricted to 38 peaks. These 38 include Everest, the world's highest.

Court Restrains Chicago Police

Chicago (AP) — A federal court restrained the Chicago police Thursday from interfering with news reporting of disturbances during Democratic National Convention week.

The U.S. 7th Circuit Court of Appeals issued its order hours after Judge William J. Campbell of U.S. District Court had rejected the complaint saying that the four photographers who filed it were not employed by Chicago news media.

U.S. Jail Is Scene Of Riot

Saigon (AP) — American prisoners rioted early Friday at the U.S. Army's Long Binh stockade. One inmate was killed and 58 others were injured before military police quelled the riot an hour later, a U.S. spokesman said.

Five MP's also were wounded in the rampage, in which scores of buildings were burned in the sprawling, barbed wire compound 12 miles northeast of Saigon. It is known as LBJ-Long Binh Jail.

Military police "used normal riot control procedures including chemical agents," meaning tear gas, the spokesman said.

Of the 58 prisoners wounded, 23 were hospitalized and 35 were treated at the scene.

The spokesman said all of the wounded prisoners and the guards "are in satisfactory condition."

Information on the circumstances of the fatality was not immediately available.

Foreign Press Mixes Emphasis On Violence, HHH

London (AP) — Violence in Chicago overshadowed the presidential nomination of Hubert H. Humphrey in British press reports from the Democratic National Convention Thursday. But some continental newspapers placed more emphasis on Humphrey's chances of election in November.

There was a good word for Humphrey in West Germany, but some other press comment expressed doubt that the Democratic Party could overcome the divisions of Chicago.

The Soviet press also focused on the violence. Communist East Germany's news agency ADN said Humphrey was nominated by "the reactionary majority."

Hanoi On 'Forces'

Radio Hanoi in North Vietnam said the U.S. government "was forced to use tens of thousands of Army troops and security forces to protect the U.S. Democrat Party convention from the American people who resolutely oppose the unjust aggressive war against the Vietnamese people." It did not mention Humphrey's nomination.

The Saigon Post bannered Humphrey's nomination but made no editorial comment. Other South Vietnamese newspapers went to press before the outcome of the balloting became known.

Red China's official New China News Agency said "Fascist police and troops in full battle gear" clashed with "the American people" who defied beatings and arrests to protest against the war in Vietnam.

"Police horror in Chicago" was the headline of the London Evening News. The Evening Standard bannered "Blood Flows in Chicago — as Humphrey Wins."

The British Broadcasting Corp. focused its radio and television reports on the fighting between security forces and demonstrators. Commentaries on the convention barely mentioned Humphrey's chances of election.

In the Evening News, correspondent Winston S. Churchill, grandson of the late prime minister, reported that he and James Auchincloss, half-brother of Mrs. John F. Kennedy, were clubbed by police and pinned against a wall by a police motorcylce.

Le Monde of Paris said: "It is certainly very difficult for Mr. Humphrey to cut himself off from his boss. But was he obliged to go the President one better? Could he not, through his silence, have kept from going back on a past when he was a spokesman of the liberals?"

Solidarity Missing

The Vatican's daily L'Osservatore Roman said Humphrey's victory "does not indicate solidarity of the Democratic Party behind the man chosen to represent it.

"On the contrary, many observers say, the Chicago convention has developed and ended in a way that leaves the party deeply divded."

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia reported "bloody skirmishes . . . Brutal outrages against demonstrators who declared their opposition to the Vietnam adventure . . . The Rooms of Sen. (Eugene J.) McCarthy in the Conrad Hilton Hotel are filled with wounded persons."

'Lyndon Who?' Asks HHH Aide

Chicago (AP) —Norman Sherman, press secretary for Hubert H. Humphrey, probably didn't score any points at the White House Thursday when he was asked if Lyndon Johnson was a possible running mate for the vice president.

Sherman smiled and asked in return: "Lyndon who?"

AEC Conducts Underground Test

Washington (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission touched off its 18th weapons-related underground nuclear test of the year Thursday at its Nevada test site.

It was of low intermediate yield — in the 20 to 200 kiloton class, the AEC said.

Heart Doctor Not Surprised By Eisenhower's Progress

Washington (AP) — Dr. Paul Dudley White, noted heart specialist, said Thursday he's not especially surprised that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has been taken off the critical list, "he's tough — and so is the human heart."

White, who was chief consultant in Eisenhower's original heart attack in 1955, made that assessment in declaring "we doctors and the lay public must maintain more hope with respect to disease" — including heart disease.

"Almost no matter how sick a person is" there is always a chance for recovery, he said.

White made the comments in a telephone interview from his Boston office, when asked to discuss the latest word from the Walter Reed Army Hospital.

Muskie Started As Senator In Lyndon Johnson Doghouse

Chicago (AP) — In his nine years as Maine's first popularly elected Democratic senator, Edmund Sixtus Muskie has come a long way from Lyndon Johnson's doghouse to become his party's vice presidential candidate.

Today, Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield calls Muskie, 54, "a senator's senator, a man who eschews publicity, works hard, and has gained a well-deserved reputation among his colleagues for integrity, fair dealing and effectiveness."

When Muskie was picked by President Johnson to shepherd Senate passage of air-and water-pollution legislation and the hotly disputed Model Cities program, a former White House aide noted:

'Real Powerhouse'

"The President regards him as a real powerhouse. He's one of the few liberals who's a match for the Southern legislative craftsmen."

Adds a Cabinet officer: "If you have a domestic bill that's really tough and you need advice on how to get it through, Ed Muskie's the best guy up there."

The Muskie method is solid homework in legislative detail, a deferential diplomacy that avoids personal attacks on legislative opponents, and an understated eloquence that can loose one stemwinder of a speech.

Early Run-In

Paradoxically, Muskie's Senate prominence is due, in part, to an early run-in with then majority leader Lyndon Johnson in 1959.

Johnson asked the lanky, 6-foot-5 freshman senator to vote with him in repulsing the perennial move by liberal senators to limit the power of filibuster. Muskie refused.

Johnson reciprocated by assigning Muskie his fourth, fifth and sixth committee choices: banking and currency, public works, government operations. Muskie had coveted a spot on the foreign relations committee.

Limelight Avoided

Muskie generally avoided national limelight for years, but he shifted course last year by accepting chairmanship of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee.

"I thought it would be a good way of pulling my oar in the Senate," said Muskie of the assignment to help finance and chart the campaigns of Democratic senatorial candidates.

"It brings wide contacts in many states and will teach me a lot of things," he said. "The contacts and political influence throughout the country are always useful to a senator."

Moribund Committees

His committees in those years were moribund. And Muskie says of the times: "I was frustrated, lonely, disillusioned and disconsolate."

Lately, however, environmental pollution and federal-state relations have become hot spots. And Muskie has a big chunk of the action as chairman of the subcommittees on air and water pollution and intergovernmental relations.

Further, Muskie is a member of the Democratic Senate leadership and is widely mentioned as possible successor to Mansfield as majority leader.

Muskie began building some national contacts in the 1950's when, as the nation's first Polish-American governor, he was a star attraction for Midwest Democrats at Pulaski Day ceremonies and Kosciusko festivals.

Muskie was elected governor in 1954, ending 20 years of Republican rule in the Maine statehouse. He was re-elected in 1956, then made his successful Senate bid in 1958.

Muskie is Maine-born, the son of Stephen Marciszewski, a tailor who emigrated from Poland. The name wes later Anglicized.

Law Degree

He was graduated Phi Beta Kappa from Bates College and has a law degree from Cornell.

After a World War II Navy stint, Muskie settled in Waterville and was elected to his first of three terms in the Maine legislature in 1946.

Muskie married the former Jane Gray of Waterville in 1948 and has five children ranging in age from 7 to 19.

He took up golf two years ago, and, confides a congressional colleague, "manages to shoot in the 90s by hitting them straight but not far."

Lyndon Johnson Fails To Appear For Convention

New York Times Service

Austin, Tex. — Dissension within the Democratic Party over the Vietnam war and the nomination of Vice President Hubert Humphrey and the police and mob violence in Chicago's streets apparently prompted President Johnson's decision not to attend the convention to deliver a prepared speech.

Not since the late Herbert Hoover declined to attend the 1932 Republican convention, has an incumbent American president failed to appear at his party's national convention.

Muskie, HHH Might Disagree On Bombing Halt

New York Times Service

Chicago — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie said Thursday that he concurred with Hubert Humphrey's position on Vietnam but suggested that he might differ with the vice president on the desirability of a unilateral bombing halt.

At a news conference some two hours after being picked by Humphrey to be his running-mate, Muskie, in a relaxed mood, attempted to strike a conciliatory position on the issues dividing the Democratic Party from youthful voters.

On the Vietnam issue, he said that he "instinctively reacts in similar ways" to the vice president. But then he said it was "very possible" that he might differ from Humphrey in evaluating the risks of a unilateral cessation of the limited American bombing of North Vietnam.

At least during the recent lull in fighting in Vietnam, it was Muskie's judgment, expressed last Sunday on the "Meet the Press" television program, and repeated Thursday in somewhat more qualified manner, that the United States could afford to take the risk of stopping the bombing without imperiling American troops and without waiting for some reciprocal military response from Hanoi.

Lorraine Orr's Decision To Run Called Premature

Fairbury (UPI) — First District Republican Chairman Lowell Hummel said it is "unfortunate" that state GOP Chairman Lorraine Orr announced before the November elections that she will seek re-election next year.

Hummel has said he is concidering running for the post.

"The only reason I said earlier I was considering runing was that I found out she had been campaigning for a few months," he said. "I think the effort now should be to get the job done in November first."

When asked if he thought her announcement might hurt the Republican effort in the state this fall, he said, "No, I wouldn't say it would hurt our chances. I just think it was a bit premature."

Hummel said her announcement had not changed his attitude toward running for the post. "I'm still definitely considering it," he said.

Hummel said that while he did not have any "big name" support lined up within the party, "I have a number of commitments from Central Committee members who are expected to be elected at the convention next week."

He said he has not "definitely" decided to seek the post.

Governor's Child Dies

Virginia Beach, Va. (AP) — Becky Godwin, 14-year-old adopted only child of Gov. and Mrs. Mills E. Godwin Jr., died in General Hospital of injuries received when struck by lightning.

GEORGE WALLACE

Wallace Says Police Needed Less Restraint

New York Times Service

Knoxville, Tenn. — Former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama said Thursday that the Chicago police "probably showed too much restraint" in subduing the "anarchists" he said have been demonstrating there in connection with the Democratic National Convention.

Later, however, as he met a flurry of questions about the comment at a news conference here, Wallace said he was "only trying to be funny."

The former governor sought to explain the beating of newsmen in Chicago by saying that the police have a "natural" animosity toward the press.

The independent, third-party candidate for president included newsmen in a group that he declared has earned the enmity both of the police and of "the average man in this country" by publishing "distortions."

Model trains usually are made from the blueprints of actual trains. A model of the Pennsylvania Railroad's S-2 steam turbine locomotive beat the real thing to the tracks.

Networks Offer Debate Times For HHH, Nixon

Chicago (AP) — The three major radio-television networks have offered Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Richard M. Nixon time for face-to-face debate in their race for the White House.

All offers were made contingent upon Congress lifting the equal-time requirements of federal law under which similar time would have to be made available to all candidates.

The American Broadcasting Co. on Thursday invited Humphrey and Nixon "to a series of debates of appropriate number." The invitation included the two vice presidential candidates as well.

In letters to Humphrey and Nixon, Leonard H. Goldenson, president of ABC, said it was hoped that all networks would carry the ABC debates.

Earlier, the National Broadcasting Co. and the Columbia Broadcasting system had made similar offers.

Wednesday night, Julian Goodman, president of NBC, invited the candidates to three debates, a two-hour program on Nov. 3 and two one-hour debates on earlier dates.

CBS also made its offer Wednesday night, although it did not specify times or dates.

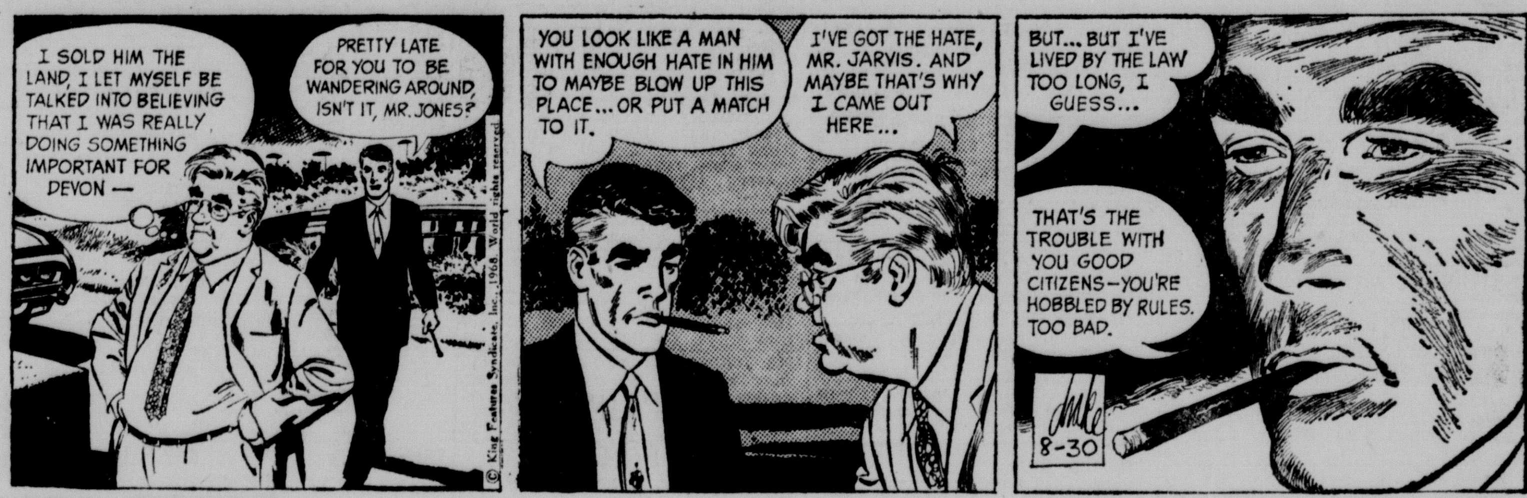
THE HEART OF JULIET JONES

by Stan Drake



I SOLD HIM THE LAND, I LET MYSELF BE TALKED INTO BELIEVING THAT I WAS REALLY DOING SOMETHING IMPORTANT FOR DEVON—
PRETTY LATE FOR YOU TO BE WANDERING AROUND, ISN'T IT, MR. JONES?
YOU LOOK LIKE A MAN WITH ENOUGH HATE IN HIM TO MAYBE BLOW UP THIS PLACE... OR PUT A MATCH TO IT.
I'VE GOT THE HATE, MR. JARVIS. AND MAYBE THAT'S WHY I CAME OUT HERE...
BUT... BUT I'VE LIVED BY THE LAW TOO LONG, I GUESS...
THAT'S THE TROUBLE WITH YOU GOOD CITIZENS—YOU'RE HOBBLED BY RULES. TOO BAD.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

One letter simply stands for another. In this example, A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

to L O N G F E L L O W
